Jordan Times

جوردان تاييز يومية سياسية تصدر بالانجليزية عن الأوسسة الصحابة الاردنية ،الرأى،

U.S. protests Israeli treetment of detainees

TEL AVIV (AP) — The United States has protested to Israel over the treatment of three Palestinian-Americans jailed on suspicion of having ties with Hamas, a U.S. official said Standay. Carl Chan, spokesman for the U.S. embassy in Tel Aviv, said that U.S. diplomats "protested against the delay in consular access and the condition of treatment." He said the protests had been made "verbally and in writing," but declined to claborate further. Israeli officials have acknowledged that Mohammad hand 36 and Mohammad State. Jarad, 36, and Mohammad Salah, 39, both from the Chicago area, signed "confessions" before being given access to lawyers or U.S. consular officials. Mr. Salah and Jarad were arrested Jan. 25 white visiting relatives in the occupied West Bank. Israel made public the detentions five days later after U.S. Sen. Paul Simon, an Illinois Democrat, inquired about the men. Last Tuesday the two men were brought before a military judge who extended their detention by two weeks, but they have yet to be charged with any crime. A third Palestinian-American, Mohammad Haja, was arrested at about the same time on suspicion of transferring firearms to the Hamas movement. He has been remanded through this week for further questioning, but also has not been charged.

bane 17 Number 5228

AMMAN MONDAY, FEBRUARY 8, 1993, SHA'BAN 16, 1413

Price: Jordan 100 fils; Sandi Arabia 1.50 riyals; UAE 1.50 dirhams

ar to be named league post

MAN (J.T.) - The govern intends to nominate lor-5 Ambassador to Egypt h Al Nimr for the post of League assistant secretary ral to replace Mohammad Al a, informed sources told the an Times. The sources said government was holding contions with Arab countries Arab League Secretary

-xods hit nian coast

OSIA (AP) — Dozens of le in Iran have drowned or missing due to flooding and sands are in urgent need of aid, fuel and food in coastal ras, Iranian radio reported lay. The radio report said the floods had stranded sands of people in the Gulf Bandar Length. Flooding eht on by heavy rains in heastern Iran in recent days also destroyed thousands of es and severely damaged s, the radio reported. Elecy was cut off to the city on and some neighbourhoods suffering dread and fuel tages, the radio said.

panese freed er Yemeni kidnap

IAA (AP) — A Japanese mitural expert has been freed a four-day abduction in Yewhere a Canadian is still hostage by a tribe locked in a dispute with the govern-t, Asian diplomats disclosed day. Koichiro Katsuari, 50, graded Wednesday along an unidentified Yemeni ciate. The incident undered the lawlessness gripping ien as a result of rivalty een political parties that I North Yemen and South en before the merger almost years ago. It also raised that more foreigners workin that country could get : Schmitz, kidnapped on Jan. emains a captive (see page 2). n diplomats and executives Oreign companies based in a said Mr. Katsnari, an exve of the Japanese Internail Cooperation Agency, was unharmed Saturday along a Yemeni collegue from the stry of Agriculture.

a restores major osphates complex

-iHDAD (R) — Iraq bas red a fertiliser complex badmaged in the Gulf war to 60 ent capacity, an official said ay. Industry and Minerals ster Amir Hammoudi Al i told Reuters the complex the Syrian border was now ucing about 600,000 tonnes hosphate fertiliser a year adjacent mines. It produced million tonnes a year before thit by U.S. and allied as during the 1991 Gulf war.

amenei urges estinians to Ttinue struggle

OSIA (R) — Iran's spiritual lay urged the Palestinian le to rely on their faith and by their struggle to defeat Lessaid Palestinians expely Israel to South Lebanon ed a big headache for Israel this shows that the Palestiare strong and will eventriumph over the enemy by 's on their faith and through perseverance and resist-The Iranian news agency NA) said Ayatollah nenei was addressing a of foreign visitors in Iran to 1 celebrations marking the anniversary of the Islamic tion that toppled the late in 1979. "Whether they (the inians or not, and whether s) return the (expelled)

ake them into custody or te them, they (the s) would finally face de-Ayatollah Khamenci said. said Ayatollah Khamenei. ng to "constant enemy to counter Islamic movein Algeria, Tajikistan, Palestine and other counarged Muslims to exchange experiences and forge new ves in coping with their

House rejects ban against Jordan observing sanctions

Deputies kill motion for obligatory voting, endorse general amnesty law

By Ayman Ai Safadii Jordan Times Staff Reporter

AMMAN — In a decision that observers said saved Jordan otherwise certain economic difficulties and international political pressure, the Lower House of Parliament Sunday voted down a motion to draft a law banning the Kingdom from boycotting or imposing sanctions on Arab coun-

Thirty-six out of 70 deputies rejected the proposal after 17 parliamentarians and Prime linister Sharif Zeid Ben Shaker took the floor to express their views on the proposed bill.

During its four-hour session, the House also turned down a proposal to make voting mandatory in parliamentary elections. reed to form a delegation to lobby for the implementation of United Nations Security Council

pellees and passed a draft law on a general pardon issued by His Majesty King Hussein in Novem-

Urging deputies to place national interests above rhetoric, Sharif Zeid said he "wished that the commitment to national re-sponsibility" had prevented the ising of what he called an unjustifiable motion to draft a law prohibiting Jordan from observing sanctions on other Arab coun-

Reiterating Jordan's commit-ment to Arab causes and pointing to its efforts to end the "injustice" against Iraq, Sharif Zeid said Jordan was obliged to respect the United Nations Charter and U.N. resolutions, which take precedence over local laws. While the 40 deputies who put forward the motion did not name Iraq in particular, the comments of the prime minister and de-puties centred on the internation-

Baghdad following its August 1990 invasion of Kuwait.

"Jordan has been doing its best to alleviate the suffering of (Iraq), but if we want to fulfil our national duty towards a brethren country and our constitutional obligation to our people, we can only intensify efforts so that Iraq comes out of its isolation unde the sanctions," Sharif Zeid told the House.

He said Jordan would do all it could to support Iraq and its people through offering advice and support on the international arena. "This helps Iraq and does not inflict harm on our country,

Speaking in support of the motion, Deputy Issa Al Rimoni said imposing sanctions against Arab countries violates the Charter of the Arab League and conflicts with the principles of the Great Arab Revolt, Islam

(Continued on page 5)

Palestinian youths carry the body of 16-year-old Riad Abdel Nabi who was shot dead by Israeli soldiers Sounday (AFP photo)

Evictees slam U.N. silence, killings

MARJ AL Zohour, Lebanon (Agencies) - Palestinian evictees staged a protest sit-in inside their tents in South Lebanon Sunday to complain that the United Nations is ignoring their plight and the killing of Palestinians by

The 396 men, banished by Israel on Dec. 17, spent the morning crowded inside 50 tents reading from the Koran. "Our sit-in is to protest against the United Nations and the international community for their si-lence on the crimes of the Nazi Zionists in the occupied territories," said Abdul Aziz Al Rantisi, the leader of the exiled men.

"It is also no protest against the silence of the U.N. Security Council over Israel's failure to implement Resolution 799, which stipulates our immediate return,"

He and spokesman Aziz Dweik

were the only evictees seen out-side the tents in the muddy hill-over the crisis and the Arabside camp.

An Israeli offer to take back

101 evictees and to cut the term in exile for the others has apparently put an end to serious talks of U.N. sanctions against Israel. The United States, which dominates the U.N. Security Council, has said it sees no need for further U.N. action. But Arab states and the evictees have rejected the offer and insists on implementation of Security Council Resolution 799. The crisis is holding up Middle East peace talks. Israeli troops shot dead six ns in the occupied Gaza Strip in two days of clashes, Soldiers also shot and wounded 27 Palestinians in demonstrations throughout the Strip.

Lebanon, which has refused to take in the evictees or allow them

Israeli negotiations. Official sources said President

Elias Hrawi would go to Damascus for a summit with Syrian leader Hafez Al Assad while Prime Minister Rafik Al Hariri would go to Cairo Thursday for talks with President Hosni

The sources said Lebanon was trying through diplomatic chan-nels to persuade U.S. Secretary of State Warren Christopher to include Beirut in a Middle East tour starting Feb. 17.

Mr. Christopher will try to put the peace talks back on track. Dr. Rantisi again urged Arab states to tell Mr. Christopher they insisted on Israel taking back the evictees before they discuss resuming the talks, now seen delayed until mid-April.

16-year-old killed in Shu'fat

OCCUPIED JERUSALEM (R) - Israeli forces shot dead a 16-year-old youth in a refugee camp in Arab East Jerusalem on Sunday, taking the Palestinian death toll in three days of clashes

A further 19 Palestinians were wounded in the Israeli-occupied Gaza Strip in clashes with troops Sunday, taking the total hurt in three days to 72. The clashes began when soldiers killed three Palestinian militants in a car on Friday in the Gaza Strip. Soldiers killed three other Palestinians during subsequent clashes. Three of those killed were terrorists and what happened is for the benefit of security." Foreign Minister Shimon Peres told reporters when he left the weekly cabinet session on Sunday.

Palestinian sources said Israeli paramilitary police shot dead Riad Abdul Nabi in Shu'fat refugee camp in Arab East Jerusalem Sunday.

Police said an Arab youth was brought dead to hospital in East Jerusalem with a builet wound in his throat after paramilitary police fired rubber bullets and warning shots to disperse youths throwing stones at them in

Nabi's death took to 1,010 the number of Palestinians killed by Israelis since the start of a revolt inst Israeli rule in December

Elsewhere, the army arrested Reuters reporter Taher Shriteh and Reuters television cameraman Marwan Al Ghol who were covering clashes in Gaza City Sunday

It was Mr. Ghol's second arrest (Continued on page 2)

Israel jails 5 returned evictees, says expulsion policy remains cars picked up the five sick men

TEL AVIV (Agencies) -- Israel took back five sick Palestinian evictees Sunday but said it had not abandoned the policy of ex-pulsions in exceptional cases.

Israel Radio said the sick

Palestinians were taken from a hospital in Israeli-occupied South Lebanon to a military base in northern Israel. The five were moved to hospital last month after falling sick at a camp in between Israeli and Lebanese Army lines which still "Five of the deportees that were in a hospital in Marjayoun (Lebanon) were returned today by the army. The five were included in the list of 101 deportees that the government of Israel army spokesman said. Israel's offer was for the men to return to their former status, and Israel Radio said the five were taken to an Israeli prison.

from Marjayoun hospital in the Jewish state's "security zone" and drove them to a nearby belicopter, which then took them

Foreign Minister Shimon Peres told reporters a U.S.-brokered compromise for the return of the 101 evictees did not affect Israel's right to expel people in the fu-

Speaking during a break in a cabinet meeting, Mr. Peres reinday from Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin's office that Israel would not guarantee it would not turn to lsions again.

"We weren't asked this question. We didn't address this quesdecided to allow to return," the tion." Mr. Peres said of bargaining with the United States over the proposed compromise on the

"The Israeli position is very clear," Mr. Rabin said. "As in An Israeli ambulance and four the past, in the future this will not be the normal policy of Israel but in case of extraordinary situa-

Israeli media have published a flurry of reports that the United States was angered by Mr. Rabin's assertion last week that Washington understood Israel's "need" to expel 415 Palestinians on Dec. 17 and that Israel retained the "right" to do it again. The compromise announced last Monday has also failed to restart Middle East peace talks, thing short of a cancellation of all 415 expulsion orders. Mr. Peres described the U.S.-Israeli compromise, ander which 101 evictees could return and the rest would have their periods of exile reduced to a maxin one year, as a U.S. idea. "The proposal was the United said the foreign minister, who is considered more mod-

(Continued on page 5)

Iraq warns Iran over infiltrations Algeria warned Iran of possible retalia tion Sunday for what Baghdad called a series of attacks by Iranian infiltrators who opened fire warned against repetition of such terrorist activities and told that Iraq fully reserves the right of retaliation for these attacks at the proper time and with the proper means," the statement said.

infiltrators opened fire Jan. 11 on iraq has frequently complained I franian infiltration in the Iraq maintains that Iran filtrators, saboteurs, Iraqi dissidents, Iraqi army deserters and which has an army in eastern fraq, said Iranian Revolutionary guards ambushed one of its vehicles inside Iraq on Jan. 11. They shot dead one of its soldiers and

On Jan. 21, a bomb exploded on a passenger bus the movement was using but no one was injured, it added

The Muiaheedin have not mentioned an attack on Jan. 16. The daily newspaper Babel meanwhile lashed out at Kuwait's ruling Al Sabah family, saying foreign powers would not be able to protect the Kuwaiti regime emergency

ALGIERS (Agencies) — The state of emergency in force in Algeria for a year to help combat Islamic extremists is being extended for an undetermined period, military-backed rulers nnounced Sunday.

The widely-expected maouncement came amid reports of eight more killings, a bomb alert at the University of Algiers and the explosion of a small bomb in a government building in Constantine.

A communique by the High State Council, carried by the official APS news agency, said the state of emergency, declared Feb. 9. 1992 for a year, was being extended for an undetermined

The ruting five-man council re-placed President Chadti Benjedid n January 1992, as part of an army effort to thwart the rise to er of Muslim fundamentalists, who were winning parliamentary elections. The voting was cancelled and the leading Islamic Salvation Front (FIS) party was banned. The manoeuvres sparked a wave of violence by Islamic ex-tremists which has left at least 600 people dead despite a series of security measures, including the state of emergency, a curiew de-clared Dec. 5 for large parts of Algeria, a new anti-terrorist law and special courts. Violence threatens to increase with the call Jan. 12 by the FIS number two, Ali Belhadj, for the people to rise up with the help of the army and police and join the extremists' war with authorities. Mr. Belhadj, serving a 12-yearprison term, sneaked the communique from his cell in the Blida military prison. At least eight people were killed over a three-day period from Thursday to Saturday, security officials said.

Among the dead were a policeman and two civil police employees who had been kidnapped Jan. 22 in Algiers. Their bodies were found Thursday, their throats slashed "after having been monstrously tortured." the police statement said.

Another policeman was killed Thursday in Algiers by a person who fled.

Afghans Anwar fight in Russian compound AMMAN (J.T.) - The for-in Kabul KABUL (R) - Fierce artillery battles between Afghan govern-ment troops and fighters of a Shiite group battered areas of Kabul around the sprawling grounds of the abandoned Russian embassy on Sunday. Troops advanced into the embassy compound and took one building but were pushed out later when they came under heavy shelling from fighters of the Hezb-e-Wahdat party. Government tanks headed southwest to reinforce the army. which surrounded the compound, occupied mainly by Hezb-e-Wahdat, but came under heavy mortar fire.

Residents were fleeing the area on the 20th day of fighting in the capital, pushing carts loaded with their few possessions including much-needed paraffin lamps in a city that has been virtually without power for months.

At least 10 rockets slammed into the Wazir Akbar Khan district in the centre of town. One hit a house occupied by the International Committee of the Red Cross but there were no reports of injuries.

Official Kabul Radio said 12 people were killed and 48 injured on Saturday when 100 rockets hit the city.

Hospitals say 3,000 people have been injured and hundreds killed in the latest fighting.

Al Khatib dies at 76

mer governor of Jerusalea. Anwar Al Khatib, died Susday in the Israeli-occupied Boly City at the age of 76. Mr. Khatib served in a number of senior posts and was a member of the Higher Islamic Council for Jerusalem. His tenure as governor of Jerusalem ended with the 1967 war when Israeli forces occupied the Holy City and the West Bank. Prime Minister Sharif Zeid

Anwar Al Khatib

Ben Shaker and Speaker of the Lower House of Parliament Abdul Latif Arabiyat expressed their sympathies and sent condolences in statesaid a formal protest was lodged in Baghdad with the Iranian south, home to Shiite Muslims that Baghdad suspects of haron a car and bus last month. The Foreign Ministry, in a statement released to journalists,

"The Iranian envoy was an fragicar, while others shot at a bus five days later. It did not specify the location of the attacks bouring sympathies for Iran's Shiite fundamentalist regime.

common fraqi criminals have attacked civilians in the south. The Mujahedeen-e-Khalq, an

Marines help Somalis return home

MOGADISHU (Agencies) Under the watchful eyes of U.S. Marines and their helicopters, families of a warring class cross peacefully into a no-man's land of their rivals Sunday to recla their homes after two years of

But it was questionable whether the truce would noid. The Marines plan to stay in the disputed territory until a United Nations peacekeeping force re-lieves them. That date has not been announced. Omer Salad, a member of the

Many of their homes were destroyed in fighting that along with famine and disease claimed the lives of 350,000 Somalis last year. Those without homes were settling into a Bullet-riddled youth centre with mattresses and large cooking posts. Mr. Salad said hundreds more likely would follow in the days to come. After two days of fighting, streets Sunday were bustling with hundreds of men, women and tee of Mogadishu city, said up to 600 Somalis had crossed from the open. The Marines entertained north to the south Sunday to the crowds with recorded music reclaim their homes from squat- played over a loudspeaker.

> wariord Ali Mahdi Mohamma The clan opposing him are followers of General Farrain Aideed, who controlls south Mogadishu.

The sporadic fighting broke out Friday and continued Saturday after Ali Mahdi people had tried to prematurely reclaim their homes occupied by squatters before an agreement was reached. More than a dozen Somalis were children. Shops and markets were reported killed in the fighting.

Authorities seek to allay 'Abu Shakoush' fears peace and reconciliation commit-

Staff Reporter

AMMAN — Alarmed over what was seen as a disturbing media handling of a series of attacks on shopkeepers in Amman since mid-September, security authorities Sunday sought to reassure the public that the situation was under control and there was no need

Major-General Fadel Ali Fheid, director-general of the Public Security Department, in comments carried by the Jordan News Agency, Petra, said that the Jordanian police had a proven record of cracking some of the most difficult crimes and the latest spate of attacks would not be any diffe-

He said police had intensi-

the attacks, attributed to one or more criminals nicknamed by the media as "Abu Shakoush" (hammerman), and that police had some clues with which they could work in their probe.

'Investigations are continuing in light of the available information and evidence,' Gen. Fheid told Petra. "The assailants will be identified and brought to justice," he prom-"The fortunes of these criminals will not be any better than those of their predecessors in Jordan," he added. The police cheif refrained from using the media-adopted term "Abu Shakoush" in his comments and did not provide any direct clue to whether police believed a sole assailant

several criminals were in-

But informed sources said police were strongly considering the pos-sibility that more than one indi-vidual or group could be responsi-ble for the attacks, which occurred between Sept. 13 and Feb. 4. "Every possibility and every clue available is under the microscope, said a highly-placed source. "In-vestigators have to consider every factor involved. The possibility that more than one person of group could be involved in the attacks is being strongly considered," the source added.

Gen. Fheid confirmed that two deaths occurred in the eight incidents, in which, according to police sources. the assailant (s) bit shopkeepers/attendants with a blust instrument — believed to be a medium-sized hammer and hence others suffered serious injuries. All victims were robbed of cash they carried on their person.

According to the sources, the first death was that of 47-year-old Yousef Ahmad Abdul Kader Al Satari at the Issal Pharmacy on Jabal Hussein in an attack which occurred during the night of 28/29 Sept. 1992; the second fatality was that of Suleiman Farhan Shakatit, that of Suleiman Farhan Shahatit, 68, at Salam Electrical Appliances shop in the same neighbourhood 02 Feb. 4.

In both cases, as well as in the six other incidents where the victims escaped death but suffered serious njuries, a hammer was believed to be the weapon used by the assailant (s).

The highly-placed source said police had released a man arrested in the Windat area as a potential suspect. The man, Khalil Mohammad Al Bawadi, 35, was detained after he was seen carrying a ham-mer which he tried to get rid of

(Continued on page 2)

Major-General Fadel Ali Florid

PLO slashes spending because of money shortage

The Associated Press

TUNIS — The loss of financial support from Arab oil states has driven the Palestine Liberation Organisation (PLO) to austerity measures that could erode its support among Palestinians and jeopardise Middle East peace

Intisar Al Wazir, head of the Social Affairs Department, said the PLO's $300 million annual budget has been slashed by 70 per cent in the 21/2 years since rich Gulf governments stopped contri-

She said the budget of her department, which is based in Jordan and handles PLO weifare programmes, had been reduced from $8 million a month to $2 million.

The belt-tightening causes hardship for hundreds of thousands of Palestinians who depend on the PLO and affects the popularity of its leader, Yasser Arafat, particularly among the 1.7 million Palestinians in the West Bank and Gaza Strip.

For years, the PLO has made monthly payments tot-alling about $8 million to an

BUCHAREST (AP) — Faisal

Husseini, chief advisor to the Palestinian negotiating team in Middle East peace talks, visited Romania Saturday for talks with President Ion Iliescu and other

At a news conference, Mr.

Husseini reiterated the Palestinians' rejection of a deal worked out last week between Israel and the United States allowing for the return of some of nearly 400 Palestinians expelled to Lebanon

Mr. Husseini said Israel's publication Friday of a list of 101 who could return "is not enough ...we insist on full implementation of (U.N. Security Council Resolu-tion) 799," which calls for the

"There must be a principle of no more deportation," he said.

proposed granting nationality to some stateless residents to try to solve one of the emirate's most

Defence Minister Sheikh Ali

Sabah Al Salem Al Sabah said in an interview published in Al

Watan newspaper Sunday some stateless people deserved

citizenship for helping in the 1991

Gulf war for the liberation of Kuwait from Iraqi occupation.

It was believed to be the first time a minister, who is also a senior member of Kuwait's ruling family, has made the proposal

The issue of bedouns, or "with-outs," has become increasingly controversial because of a debate over the 40 per cent fall in Kuwait's total population since

The public authority for civil information said last week there were 53,376 bedowns in Kuwait

over 15 years of age, out of a total

Kuwaiti and non-Kuwaiti popula-bedouns left during the occupation. Few have been allowed to Sheikh Ali said of bedouns,

many of whom work in the security forces: "As a Kuwaiti I have the honour to have Kuwaiti brothers in that (stateless) category who defended Kuwait."

"Those (stateless people) should have high rank in Kuwaiti society and this rank can be either

Tens of thousands of other the Iraqi invasion of 1990.

tion of 1.3 million.

sensitive problems.

publicly.

Kuwait sees nationality

for some stateless people

KUWAIT (R) — A senior by granting them Kuwaiti return of all expellees.

in December.

Husseini urges Romanian families, or 700,000 people. The welfare system embraces the Israeli-occupied territories and refusees in Lebanon. Syria, Jordan, Iraq and Yemen.

There already are signs that Iranian-backed Muslim fundamentalists are winning over many Palestinians in the occupied territories.

Group such as Hamas and Islamic Jihad are exploiting widespread frustration over lack of progress in the U.S.sponsored peace talks that began in October 1990. They oppose the peace talks, and if they win enough popular sup-port, could force Mr. Arafat to order a walkout by Palestinian negotiators. Gulf states halted aid to the PLO to punish it for supporting Iraq in the Gulf

The financial crisis is causing dissension within the PLO. At a meeting of the Central Council in Tunis, aides assailed Mr. Arafat for not increasing payments to the families of men killed by the Israelis.

"Where are we going to get the money?" he shouted angrily. "We can barely make ends meet."

That was a far cry from the

Israel accused the men of ties to radical Islamic groups opposed to the peace process and allegedly responsible for attacks in Israel

But Lebanon refused to accept

The peace talks, which had the expellers, leaving them stranded for the past seven weeks been expected to resume shortly after President Bill Clinton took office, are stalled over the issue.

from formally heading the Palestinian delegation because of his close ties to the Palestine

Liberation Organisation (PLO), is nonetheless considered its un-

He indicated the Palestinians might abandon negotiations altogether if Israel did not take permanent residency, or other things."

Most of the bedouns are descended from nomads from the deserts of Arabia who settled in Kuwait but could not obtain citizenship because of strict publicity to their anomalous status because of a debate over

Kuwait's demographic structure.

citizens accounted for less than 30 per cent of the population. The government favours making

Kuwaitis a majority but already the proportion of Kuwaitis to non-Kuwaitis, both bedoun and foreigners, has slipped to 45-55.

ments by other government officials, also proposed studying whether to grant more Kuwaiti nationals the right to vote - eligible voters account for only 15 established in the early 1960s.

stipulate that voters must be males aged 21 and older and able to trace family origins in Kuwait

the love (of the country) cannot be divided," Sheikh Ali said. "A

Kuwaiti, whether of the first (voting) category or the second (non-voting), at the end is a Kuwaiti, differences must have had their

and whoever established those

*Lovalty cannot be divided and

Kuwait's strict nationality laws, per cent of Kuwaitis.

back to 1920 or before.

Sheikh Ali, reiterating state-

Before the invasion Kuwaiti

The invasion indirectly gave nationality laws.

Mr. Husseini, barred by Israel and the occupied territories.

southern Lebanon.

official leader.

fat days of the 1970s, when the movement was rolling in funds and operated more like an international conglomerate than a liberation move-

A measure of Mr. Arafat's -desperation has been his recent approaches to Saudi Arabia for a reconciliation.

In January, Mahmoud Abbas, a member of the PLO Executive Committee and a close associate of Mr. Arafat. publicly apologised to the Saudis for the pro-Iraq stand. Many PLO officials criticised the apology, but Palestinian sources said poverity leaves Mr. Arafat little choice.

So far, there is no sign that the Saudis or other Gulf states will resume their contributions.

The situation is tragic," Mrs. Wazir said. She is the widow of Khalil Al Wazir, Mr. Arafat's military commander, who was killed in Tunis in April 1988. apparently by Israeli agents.

-Mr. Arafat reduced PLO

spending by 30 per cent in 1991, trimmed the staff at the Tunis headquarters, closed 20 of the 90 foreign missions and banned first-class travel.

In recent weeks, according to PLO sources, he has cut all le in Mideast

"We decided (no negotiations)

because we were convinced it was the better way ...but we have alternatives, painful alternatives," he said, refusing to

After meeting with Mr. Husseini, Mr. Iliescu said Romania,

"given its good relations with Israel as well as the Arab states

...offers its good offices for achieving a climate for negotia-

Mr. Husseini agreed Romanu

"can do much, especially in the multilateral talks" on water-sharing and other regional issues. But he declined to say whether he had asked for any Romanian mediation regarding the evictees.

Communist dictator Nicolae

Ceausescu, who was ousted in 1989, aspired for years to a role in could not guarantee the safety of foreigners after a spate of hostage-taking and asked its largest oil operator to consider shutting down production, an oil industry

The Western source said

Texas-based Hunt Oil decided to maintain normal operations after a series of discussions requested

by Oil Minister Saleh Abu Bakr

Ben Hussainoun in the past

But in the face of actions by lawless tribes, it will "continue to monitor the situation and curtail the movement of foreign staff and make them less of a target," he consider shutting down produc-tion because the government could not provide adequate protection for foreign employees,"

Hunt produces 85 per cent of Yemen's 200,000 barrels a day

from the Ma'arib region where the Gidaan and Nihm tribes control parts of the road from Sanaa and are hijacking cars.

The minister "is very concerned about the safety of the workers after a rash of hijackings

and lawlessness around the (production) area," the source added.

He said the capital Sanaa, about 200 kilometres west of the Authoritative sources told

Reuters that tribesmen set free two hostages, a Japanese man and a USEFUL TELEPHONE

Ma'arib, remained secure.

the source told Reuters.

"The minister advised Hunt to source said Sunday week.

salaries by five to seven per cent, laid off more employees and shut down some PLO publications.

Even employees still on the job complain that salaries sometimes are weeks late, even months.

Palestinian officials summoned to Tunis now stay in low-priced hotels instead of the five-star establishments they once used, or are put up by friends, the sources re-

They said travel has been curtailed and Mr. Arafat personally approves all air tickets. He has reduced housing and education allowances and ordered officials to transfer their children from private to public schools, the sources said.

Assessing the PLO's fi-nances is difficult. Its books are not open to inspection and the few people with access to them are not prepared Insiders said the movement probably has about $2 billion n assets, much of it invested around the world. That is half what they believe the PLO had before the Gulf crisis. The investments are generally believed to earn about 10

peace talks

both sides of the conflict.

Romania was the only communist country to maintain diplomatic relations with Israel after the 1967 war — and also one of the few anywhere to recognise the State of Palestine declared in

Mr. Husseini also met with Foreign Minister Teodor Meles-to Romania, was shrouded in secrecy somewhat reminiscent of past visits here by PLO Chairman

Media reports said Mr. Husseini is to leave Monday for a tour of other unspecified European capitals. But Mr. Husseini refused to comment on his itiner-them for three days. But a Canadian businessman kidnapped on Jan. 24 was still being

The Japanese and Yemeni dam

experts were seized about 70 kilometres east of Sanaa, the Canadian Mike Schmitz, from Edmonton in the western province of Alberta, was abducted by Hada tribesmen. They were apparently using him as a bargaining chip in a land dispute in Dhamar province, about 100

Criminals taking vehicles, creed and political statements. Some tribes want to be heard so they are using the foreigners." the oil

Hunt has employed extra guards, is moving staff by helicopter to and from operational sites and has restricted travel outside the capital, the oil source

But it had not yet decided to send dependents home, he

A Canadian diplomat in Sanaa said last week he was optimistic negotiations would lead to Mr.

"He has been treated well.

He's in good spirits," said Vicken

Koundakjian, vice-consul in the Canadian embassy in Saudi Arabia, who has been in Yemen since

JORDAN TIMES DAILY GUIDE AND CALENDAR

Schmitz's release.

"It is a mixture of everything.

kilometres south of Sanaa.

industry source said.

sources said.

The visit, Mr. Husseini's first canu and other officials.

Yasser Arafat.

bringing about Middle East peace ary, citing "logistical problems."

ensure foreigners' safety

SANAA (R) — Yemen said it Yemeni, on Saturday after hold-

Yemen says it cannot

There are reports that Mr. Arafat has used some assets to make up for the loss of contributions, but the sources say he is reluctant to endanger the PLO's long-term financial security.

In addition to the welfare programme, the PLO makes payments to families of the more than 10,500 men imprisoned in the occupied territories and Israel.

The PLO also finances the Palestinian uprising in the West Bank and Gaza Strip. What that costs is not known, but the Israelis are believed to have seized about $20 million in smuggled cash since the rebellion began in December 1987.

Palestinians in Jordan and Lebanon have demanded increases in their allowances to keep up with inflation. With radical opposition to the peace talks growing, Mr. Arafat can ill afford to antagonise them. To make matters worse, Hamas, the fundamentalist Palestinian movement, is apparently using money from Iran and possibly Saudi Arabia to woo support away from Mr. Arafat.

Rushdie and took pride in his close ties to upbeat

LONDON (R) — British author Salman Rushdie says he has visited eight countries in a bid to drum up international support against Iran's death order for blaspheming Islam issued four

Mr. Rushdie, revealing details of some of the trips for the first time in an article in the Sunday Times, said his visits to the United States, Denmark, Spain, Norway, Germany, Sweden, Canada and Ireland over the past year had encouraged him in his quest to bring international pressure to bear on Tehran.

In Canada last December, Mr. Rushdie, who has lived in hiding under police protection since the death order was issued, said the effect of his meetings was "electrifying."

"Within 48 hours resolution."
Canadia: demanding that the Canadian government take this issue to the United Nations and pursue it at the World Court had been rushed the Canadian parliament with all party support and the govern-ment had agreed to act upon them," he said

Last October in Germany, Iran's most important tradi partner, the foreign minister told Mr. Rushdie a cultural agreee ment had been put on hold and made contingent on the death order against him being cancel-

The order, issued by Ayatol-lah Ruhollah Khomeini on Feb. 14, 1989, accused Mr. Rushdie of blaspheming Islam in his book "The Satanic Verses."

Mr. Rushdie said he had visited Dublin since the new Irish government was formed on Jan. 12 and held talks with new Foreign Minister Dick Spring and met President Mary Robinson.

"Next stop perhaps President Clinton?" he added. Mr. Rushdie also urged the British government, which he has criticised in the past for inaction, to do more, in particular by spearheading the international campaign on his behalf. "What is needed now is for the British government to take advantage of all the goodwill generated by the many, many people working with me and on my behalf in a dozen or so countries. and to place itself in the forefront of the international community's attempts to end this continuing a Gulf war ceasefire. Iraq, in a bid to break out of economic and political isolation. has since made overtures to U.S. President Bill Clinton, calling for dialogue and refraining from shooting at Western planes which fly over the north and the industrialisation helped build up The new Clinton administra-Iraq's weapons programmes, said the government did however see tion has not yet responded. Gen. Saadi said a U.N. deciopenings for dialogue with Iran, sion to send more troops to the its main rival in the Gulf. Iraqi-Kuwaiti border was in line "This has traditionally been an with the policies of former Presiarea of certain aggressive design dent George Bush and he did not and ... we feel we need a strong expect change overnight. defensive capability to maintain peace and stability," Gen. Saadi "It could probably not be helped, given the previous momentum of the Bush policy," He was answering a question on what kind of military forces Iraq needed to defend its border with Iran. The two countries Asked about the status of Iraq's claim to Kuwait, the minisfought for eight years until 1988. "Iraq is a force in the area and ter referred to a statement by Deputy Prime Minister Tarea it has legitimate defence needs," added Gen. Saadi, who is now Aziz last month. Mr. Aziz said: "The chapter of Kuwait is minister with the newly created industry and minerals portfolio. Gen. Saadi declined to elaborate and would not say if the chapter could be reopened. "Who can say? It (the Kuwait The Iranian government gained credit in Baghdad last file) is committed to the archives," he said.

Asked if Iraq had resumed producing tanks and other military hardware permitted under the Gulf war ceasefire. Gen. Saadi

GAZA IS BURNING: A mother and child pass tests that left more than a do Baghdad says it needs strong armed forces in volatile region

iaid:
"I think every country is entitied to produce what it can for its legitimate defence and Iraq is no exception." The minister, who oversees factories that have come under scrutiny from U.N. teams dismantling Iraq's weapons of mass destruction, called for further talks on plans for long-term monitoring of Iraq's arms prog-"There are some aspects ... we are willing to comply with but there are others that could be interpreted in different ways, more connected with people and personnel than suppliers. "That is more controversial We are not happy with that. We have to talk about it ... with the U.N.," he said. U.N. inspectors have said there can be no negotiation on plans for long-term monitoring to ensure that Iraq does not rebuild the weapons programmes.

Gen. Saadi repeated that Iraq was now considering whether to give the U.N. special commission a list of the companies which supplied equipment for its nuclear weapons programme.

U.N. officials say that without the list they cannot certify that Iraq is is complying with ceasefire criminals who try to tamper with Authorities seek to allay fears

when a police patrol approached.
"Investigations proved that the man had nothing to do with the 'Abu Shakoush' attacks." said the source. "Obviously the 'Abu Sha-koush' affair was in his mind and he feared that he could be a suspect in the case since he had a hammer in his hand and that was

"I can also see some hope for dialogue (with Tehran) and month for condemning air raids on Iraq by the United States and its Western allies. Washington said Iraq was flouting the terms of reason to prevail," he said.

By Jane Arraf

Reuters

BAGHDAD - Iraq needs

strong armed forces to defend itself in a dangerous region, a

General Amir Hammoudi Al

Saadi, who as minister of military minister said Sunday.

told Reuters.

the reason he tried to get rid of it." The source also rejected reports that a paint-shop owner was killed in Wihdat in a Dec. 30 attack and rumours that another incident bearing the halmarks of "Abu Sha-koush" had occurred in the last

"Rumours and the media approach to the incidents are worrying," explained the source.
"They only cause unnecessary panic and worry among the pub-lic."

The source was referring to series of reports and commentaries appearing in the local press on the Abu Shakoush" affair in the past week. The government-run televi-sion and radio did not report the Concern over media approach was also indirectly voiced in the comments of Gen. Fheid. "Crime of unfamiliar patterns always arouse public interest and concern, particularly when such phenomena are accompanied by exaggeration by some people who do not take into consideration that investigations are underway," he said. Gen. Fheid called on citizens to "extend every possible support for the security forces and have confidence in their ability to safeguard security and stability."

"The Public Security Department has always been successful in putting an end to (the actions of) the security that Jordan enjoys," he said, urging the public to "allow police efforts to bear fruit and justice to take its course." "Much more serious and myste-rious, crimes which occurred in Jordan have been solved and the criminals were arrested, thanks to cooperation from the public," Gen. Fheid said. "Given the circumstances and challenges facing us, the situation of crime in Jordan is much better than in any other

: C> .-

The police chief also told Petra that police had arrested suspects in a series of arson attacks on cars and the cases were being finalised. He did not elaborate, but it is understood from unconfirmed reports that some cars and at least one bus were put on fire by unknown assailants in the eastern suburbs of Amman, without any apparent reason for the crimes.

16-year-old shot dead in Jerusalem (Continued from page 1)

in two weeks. Mr. Shriteh was last arrested in December and almost expelled to Lebanon in Israel's mass expulsion of 415 Palestinians. He was taken off the bus at the border and subsequent-Liberal cabinet ministers protested the rising death toll among caution" on the part of Israeli Palestinians Sunday. The ministers, members of Meretz, said they were especially concerned that Palestinians were being shot and killed during demonstrations and that many were children.

'We are asking for much more troops, Education Minister Shulamit Aloni told Israeli Radio after Sunday's cabinet meeting. Israel Radio reported the liberal ministers brought up the rising death toll in the meeting.

Prime Minister Rabin suggested that concerned ministers look themselves at the situation in the occupied Gaza Strip, where most deaths have occurred the radio reported. But it said Rabin rejected naming a cabinet committee to investigate.

Other Flights (Terminal 2)

JORDAN TELEVISION Tel: 773111-19

18:00	RAMME TWO Pitit Deieuner Com
19:00	Pitit Dejeuner Com News in Fre
19:15	Magazine Spo News in Heb
19:30	News in Heb
20:00	News in As
20:30	Step by S Marlin
21:10	Marlin
22:00	News in Eng Jordan We
22:20	Jordan Wei
22.48	Vict

85:82	Fi
06:21	(Sunrise) Du
11:50.	Dhu
14:57 .
17:19	Maehn
18:37	Maghri 'Is
	CHURCHES
St. Ma	ry of Nazareth Church Swelfle

St. Joseph Church Tcl. 624590.

De la Salle Church Tel. 661757 Terratusta Church 101. Church of the Annu eta Church Tel: 622366 en Church Tel. 652826, Tel.

Catholic Church Tel. Armenian Orthodex Church Tel. St. Ephraim Church Tcl. 771751, The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Sukets Tcl. 823824, 654932. Church of the Nazarene Tcl. 675691.

Bulletin supplied by the Dept

It will be partly cloudy and cold. In the afternoon, a co accompanying a depression over Cyprus will affect north dan, extending gradually to parts of the Kingdom at nigh get colder Tuesday and sno pected to fall on areas with: ion of 900 metres and mo include Ajloun, western As the southern heights. Wind westerly fresh. In Aqaba, wit

caim.	~	II CAL		J.a.
Ammas	M	in/M	ız. b	emp.
Aqaba			6	/ 17
Jordan Valley			8	/ 15

own reasons at that time."

NUMBERS WEATHER NIGHT DUTY

artment of	AMMAN:
	Dr. Waleed Al Masri 675485
	Dr. Abdul Ouder Al Lala 756046
relatively	Dr. Mohammad Al Sawwa 732056
	Dr. Abdai Hadi Tayyen 620115 cold front
n centred	Fires pharmacy
them Jor-	Ferdows pharmacy 778336
cover all	Al Asema pharmacy 637055 Maine Libration of the control of th
ht. It was	Nairoukh pharmacy
OW is ex-	Al Salam pharmacy 636730
an cieva-	Yacoub pharmacy 644945
re, which	Shracisani pharmacy 637660
	Nairoujh pharmacy 623672
nonan and	N-11
k will be	Najib pharmacy 847632 ads will be and seas

ZAROA:

Dr. Abdul Karim Kha

EMERGENCIES Food Control Centre

Civil Defence Department	66111
Civil Defence Immediate	42004
Rescue	مبسره .
Civil Defence Emergency Rescue Police 192, 621111.	17
Fire BrigadeBlood Bank	77517
Highway Police	84340
Traffic Police	90630
Public Security Department	6607
Hotel Complaints	60580
Price Complaints	66117
Water and Sewerage
Complaints	89746
Amoun Municipality
Complaints	. 78711
Telephone Information
(directory assistance)	12
Overseas Calls	01023
Central Amman Telephone	69316
RepairsAbdali Telephone Repairs	6611A
Jordan Television	77311

Radio Jordan
RJ Flight Information 08-53200 Oucen Alia Intl. Airport 08-53200
MOCRITALE

AMMAN:
Hussein Medical Centre	813813/3
Khalidi Maternity, J. Amn	644281/
Akilch Maternity, J. Amn	642441/
Jabal Amman Maternity	64236
Malhac I Ammon	63614
Palestine, Shmeisani	664171/
Shmeisani Hospital	66913
University Hospital	84584
Al-Musher Hospital
The Islamic, Abdali	6661 Z7/3
Al-Abli, Abdall
italiau, Al-Muhajreen	77/101/
Al-Bashir, J. Ashrafich Army, Marka	7/2111/2 001411/1
Queen Alla Hospital	691011/1
Amal Hospital	57414 27414
ZARQA:	0/4/3
Zarqa Govt. Hospital (09)98332
- 4 (,- (09)986732

(03)314111 FOR THE TRAVELLER

QUEEN ALIA INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT

This information is supplied by Royal Jordanian (RJ) information depart-ment at the Oneca Alia International Airport Tel. (06)53200-5, where it should always be verified.

Royal Jordanian (RJ) Flights (Terminal 1)

99:15 99:15 99:26 99:45 10:15 16:45	Jeddah (Cairo, Aqaba () Riyadh () Damaseus () Dubai, Abu Dhabi () New Delhi () Beirut () Cairo () Bangkok ()	RRRR
18:30 19:10	Cairo () Bangkok () Casablanca, Tunis () London ()	k

Other Flights (Terminal 2)

96:00	Khartoum (SU
09:30	Adea (AL
12-46	Cairo (MS
16-70	Istanbel (TK
12:36	Vicanza, Larmaca (05
19:80	Dubai, Damascus (EM

DEPARTURES Royal Jordanian (RJ) Flights

. 91		•
6:15	Beiret (i
0:25	London (1	i
1:15	Toronto Montreal (i
2:10	, London (į
2:15	Frankfurt (١
2:45	Cairo (I	ì
D-00	Dhahrao (i	i
1:30		į
1.39	Behrain, Dobs (1	į
1:40	Dubai, Muscat (1	į
	-

MARKET PRICES 700 / 700 210/ 160 300 / 250 Marrow (b 200 / 100 440 / 380 210 / 189 240 / 180 400/160 380 / 280 180 / 120 250/ 200

هكذا عن الأجل

HOME NEWS IN BRIEF

Queen to visit Salt handicraft centre

AMMAN (J.T.) — Her Majesty Queen Noor Monday will pay a visit to the Salt Handicrafts Training Centre where she is scheduled to inspect handicraft training and production facilities. Included in Her Majesty's visit programme will be workshops for silk screening, ceramics and decoration, in addition to the newly established clay production section, pilot weaving and ceramics production units and the showroom. The Salt Handicrafts Training Centre was established in 1987 by the Salt Development Corporation (SDC) with funding and technical assistance from the Italian government. Noor Al Hussein Foundation (NHF) took over management and development of the entre in March 1988 after an accord was signed with SDC.

Crown Prince sends condolences to Barto family

AMMAN (Petra) - His Royal Highness Crown Prince Hassan Similar delegated his secretary to convey his condolences to the mily over the death of Ali Barto. His Royal Highness Prince Mohammad, the Personal Representative of His Majesty King Hussein, Sunday called at the Barto home, and offered condolences to the family.

Princess Sarvath discusses education needs with Canadians

AMMAN (Petra) - Her Royal Highness Princess Sarvath received Sunday head of the Canadian Community Colleges Society Tom Norton and President of the Canadian Federal College Roy Murray. Princess Sarvath and the two Canadian officials discussed educational issues, particularly vocational education in community colleges. They also discussed the issue of education meeting the needs of the local society as a means to counter the problem of unemployment. At the end of themeeting, the Canadian delegation presented Princess Sarvath with a certificate in appreciation of her contributions to the Jordanian-Canadian Programme on Learning Disabilities. The meeting was attended by Senators Saced A! Tal and Husni Ayesh and several other officials.

Senate judiciary discusses 2 laws

AMMAN (Petra) — The Upper House of Parliament Judiciary Committee Sunday discussed the revised telecommunication law, and made a recommendation to the Senate to adopt it, as referred by the Lower House without any amendments. The committee also discussed the draft law on illegal acquisition of wealth, which was returned to the Senate by the Lower House, and recommended that the Senate stick to its former decision on this law. Also Sunday, Upper House Speaker Ahmad Al Lawzi called the Senate for session on Thursday to pursue discussion of issues

Ministry attends atomic energy meeting in Tunis

AMMAN (Petra) — A delegation from the Ministry of Energy and Mineral Resources, headed by the ministry's secretary general Abdul Wahab Al Zu'bi, Monday leaves for Tunis to take part in the meetings of the executive committee of the Arab Atomic Energy Agency (AAEA). Mr. Zubi, who is also the chairman of the executive board of the AAEA, said the meeting will discuss a recommendation by a special committee to set up an Arab centre for nuclear sciences in Tunis and a memorandum by the agency's general secretriat on Kuwait's decision not to withdraw from the agency.

Red Crescent head appeals to ICRC

AMMAN (Petra) - President of the Jordan National Red Crescent Society (JNRCS) Mohammad Mitleq Al Hadid Sunday urged the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) to protect Palestinian prisoners in Israeli jails following news reports that the Israeli government had prepared new regulations for the Israeli security service, Shin Bet, exempting it from responsibility if any prisoner dies during interrogation. In a cable sent to the ICRC head in Geneva Sunday Dr. Hadid said if these regulations were approved by the Israeli government, they will be in violation vention calling for protec living under occupation. Article 31 of the convention, Dr. Hadid said, prohibits any coercion or use of force against people covered by the convention, particularly if the aim was to gain information.

Environment, energy symposium to begin

AMMAN (Petra) — Chairman of the Jordanian Society for the Control of Environmental Pollution Ahmad Obeidat will open a symposium on environment and energy at Amra Hotel's Nabatean Hall. Taking part in the symposium will be 100 participants and institutions, as well as non-governmental organisations concerned with environmental issues. The symposium will shed light on environmental problems resulting from energy and the appropriate methods of using energy. The symposium aims at encouraging the use of alternate sources of energy, such as solar, water and bio-gas. Participants will also discuss uses of nuclear energy and possibilities of using it in Jordan.

Ramtha celebrates illiteracy eradication

RAMTHA (Petra) - The Ramtha district Education Department organised Sunday a celebration at Al Zahra Secondary School making the Arab Day for Illiteracy Eradication. Department Director Atallah Al Doujan delivered an address at the celebration in which he lauded efforts exerted to eradicate illiteracy in the Kingdom. He also underlined the importance of the Ministry of Education's adult education centres and commended their role in curbing illiteracy rates in Jordan. Other speakers also praised the Ministry of Education. The celebration was attended by several district officials and illiteracy eradication centre students and teachers. The number of illiteracy eradication centres in Ramtha district stands at 16, where 350 adult students

Jordan to discuss ties with Islamic republics

AMMAN (J.T.) — Jordan has recognised the newly independent Islamic republics of the former Soviet Union and will soon appoint non-resident ambassadors to those countries, according to Deputy Premier and Transport Minister Ali Suheimat.

Mr. Suheimat, a member of the Jordanian delegation scheduled to leave for Moscow Monday at the start of a tour of Russia and the new Islamic states, said in a statement that the delegation will strive to bolster Jordan's cultural, economic and political relations with these countries.

Mr. Suheimat said Jordan will offer its expertise in various fields to the new states and will open the Al al Bait University in Mafraq for students from the Islamic republics.

Mr. Suheimat said that the delegation's visit aims primarily at bolstering relations between Jordan and the Islamic republics, adding that the delegation members will hold wide range discussions with government officials in

His Majesty King Hussein Saturday expressed Jordan's desire to build strong ties of cooperation in all fields with the Islamic republics.

The delegation, made up of representatives of various public and private sectors, is led by Chief Chamberlain Prince Raad Ben Zeid.

Amman to host biotech meeting

AMMAN (J.T.) — The United Nations Economic and Social Commission for Western Asia (ESCWA) will hold the second Arab Conference on Perspectives of Modern Biotechnology from April 24 to 28 in Amman.

The conference, jointly called for by ESCWA and the Higher Council for Science and Technology (HCST), in Jordan, aims at enhancing interest in biotechnology-related research and applying and promoting opportunities of biotechnologybased investments.

It will bring together experts and representatives of international institutions and companies with their Arab counterparts; as well as parties in charge of biotechnology-related designs, policies and programmes.

During the conference, the participants working in fields related to modern biotechnologies in the Arab countries and abroad will organise an exhibit of products, processes, projects, books and brochures on their relevant

The conference scientific committee has already received more than sixty working documents to be presented during the confer-ence, from the following Arab countries: Algeria, Bahrain, Egypt, Jordan, Lebanon, Libya, Morocco, Palestine occupied territories, Saudi Arabia, Syria, Tunisia United Arab Emirates and Yemen.

Thus far documents deal with, the applications of biotechnology in agriculture, including tissue cultures; the applications of biotechnology in industrial processes; the applications of biotechnology in environment protection and the treatment of industrial waste; the applications of genetic engineering; the phar-maceutical and medical applications, incentives and obstacles facing the biotechnology-based investment projects in the Arab demand on medical services, the Ministry of Health will open six new integrated health centres, 12 clinics, three small health units, 11 dental care centres and 21 mother and child health care centres in the Kingdom during 1993.

Health Ministry announces major expansion of medical facilities, services and staffing

The announcement was made Sunday by Minister of Health Aref Bataineh who said tenders have already been announced for the maintenance and development of Al Bashir Hospital in the Ashrafieh district, Al Hussein Hospital in Salt, and Princess Basma Hospital in Irbid. Dr. Bataineh said the health ministry plans to enlarge Al Ramtha Hospital to include emergency, first aid and labora-tory sections, in addition to a blood bank. He added that the ministry will also start building the 600-bed King Abdullah Training Hospital at the Jordan University of Science and Technology (JUST). According to Dr. Bataineh, the children's, burn, and orthopaedic sections at Al Bashir Hospital have been enlarged, and 105 new beds have raised the total to 695.

The minister said health centres

AMMAN (Petra) — In its drive in remote regions are being over-to cope with the ever-growing looked by nurses who prefer to stay in urban centres.

The ministry is striving to overcome the shortages at these centres where nursing services are below standard, Dr. Bataineh

He also said staffing at Jordanian hospitals and healthceatres is still lacking, particulary in specialised nursing in services including intensive care, care of burn patients and surgeries.

In order to attract specialists and doctors to the health ministry, Dr. Bataineh said that a special "incentives allowance" is being given to physicians and specialists under an agreement announced last August.

He said a committee has been established to determine the nature of work for which a doctor would be entitled to such allo-

Dr. Bataineh added that daily paid workers employed by the Ministry of Supply and the Am-man Municipality will be added to the list of people benefiting from the Ministry of Health's medical services at all health centres and government hospitals

New blood bank opens viding a modern mobile unit

AMMAN (J.T.) - Under the patronage of His Royal Highness Crown Prince Hassan a new branch of the National Blood Bank (NBB) in west Amman will open Monday, a statement from the Ministry of Health announced.

Because of the rapid increase of the population in Jordan particularly during the last two years, the expansion of Amman and an improved health care structure, three new hospitals were opened during 1992 the statement said. Three more hospitals are under construction in west Amman area, it added.

Jordan's medical reputation has attracted patients from neighbouring countries for highly spe-cialised surgical and medical treatment such as open heart surgery, organ transplants and cancer-treatment, the statement said.

According to the Ministry of Health, these circumstances recessitate a growing demand for blood and blood products.

In addition the ministry plans to expand its blood transfusion service and therefore the establishment of a new branch of the NBB in west Amman is paramount, the statement said.

The United States Agency for International Development (USAID) is helping to finance the project at a cost of about $450,000, the ministry said. According to the statement, U.S. aid assistance includes pro-

which will help increase blood collections from donors across the country, as well as equipment, computers, and staff training in certain areas of blood banking. The government of Jordan will provide the new branch with trained staff from the ministry's National Blood Bank, and cover operating costs without reducing the current budgetray allocation for the NBB the statement said. According to the ministry, the new branch operate under the same regulations and with the same high standards and quality control of the NBB. The main function of this branch will be to collect blood from healthy donors following appropriate laboratory and medical examinations, the statement said. The blood will then be sent to the National Blood Bank for processing into components, testing for infectious diseases and conforming blood group, and other necessary tests, the ministry added.

Kabariti hopes labour meeting will renew Arab cooperation

AMMAN (J.T.) — Minister of Labour Abdul Karim Al Kabariti Sunday expressed hope that the upcoming Arab Labour Organistion (ALO) conference due to convene in Amman the first week of April, might help to rekindle solidarity among Arab countries and renew cooperation in labourrelated fields.

In a preparatory meeting at the, ministry with ALO Director General Baker Mahmoud Rasoul, Mr. Kabariti said Jordan will participate in the conference with a delegation of representatives from the Ministry of Labour and the employers and the workers unions. The conference agenda includes issues such as working women and their role in development, the role of women in Islam and their status in Arab legislation, the Arab strategy for re-Arab labour force.

In addition, the integration of the disabled and their employment in jobs suitable to their capabilities, the working environment, occupational health and safety, and freedom of labour in

Abdul Karim at Kahariti

delegations, means of ensuring the success of the forthcoming

Mr. Rasoul was present at the meeting.

the Arab World, are also part of the conference agenda, he said. Mr. Kabariti and Mr. Rasoul reviewed the agenda and the composition of the participating

A delegation accompanying

WHAT'S GOING ON

- ☆ Exhibition entitled "Modernist Still Life Photographed" at the
- * Exhibition of watercolour paintings by Syrian artist Nazir Nab'a at Baladna Art Gallery.
- ★ Exhibition of paintings by the late Syrian artist Alfred Hatmal at Al Balqa Art Gallery in Fuheis city.
- ★ Exhibition of paintings by four Arab artists from the United States Ghada Jamal, Helen Khal, Suha Noursi and Afaf Jabal Amman, between the First and Second Circles.
- \bigstar Exhibition of photographs by Jean-Philippe Reverdot at the French Cultural Centre.

SEMINAR

- ☆ English language seminar entitled "Teacher Support and Self-evaluation by Teachers" at the British Council at 5:30
- ☆ French film entitled "L'amoureuse" at 8 p.m. at the French Cultural Centre (98 min., 1987)

- Zorayk at the Abdul Hameed Shoman Foundation Gallery in

'Lost passport' notices — a way out for many 'illegals'

By a Jordan Times Staff Reporter

AMMAN — Notices of "lost" hidian passports appearing in the Jordan Times come mostly in line with a directive by the embassy of India in Amman to Indians approaching the mission seeking new passports to replace lost documents.

Such advertisements, which announce the loss of passports and request finders to contact the police or the embassy of India. have appeared with increasing frequency in the Jordan Times in the past three years, particularly after the authorities stepped up measures against illegal guest workers in the Kingdom.

. The rationale behind the embassy directive to passport applicants that they put an advertisement in the newspaper as a. precondition for the acceptance of their applications is multi-fold: it fulfils a basic requirement under the regulations of the Indian Ministry of Foreign Affairs and informs concerned people that the passport has been reported lost. In many cases the embassy received the 'lost' passports from the Jordanian immigration authorities a few days after the advertisements appeared. The authorities reported that the documents were seized during raids on groups which operate a lucrative trade of furnishing work and residence permits - in some cases forged documents - to illegal guest workers. There have also been dozens of cases where the passports have disappeared altogether; either the documents were actually lost or someone suppressed them somewhere.

Inquiries made by the Jordan Times reveal that:

- during the early eighties the business of furnishing residence and work permits for Indian, Pakistani, Bangladeshi and Sri Lankan nationals boomed with a high demand for foreign labour in Jordan. Some organised groups were specialised in securing the relatively, easily available permission to employ foreign labour in the agricultural sector.

The catch was that while a foreigner may hold a residence permit showing him as a farm worker, he may actually be working in some other trade which is not permitted by the local author-Holders of such documents annually renewed their papers without much fear of detection in the early eighties. The groups which helped them used to charge them anything between JD 70 to JD 150 per head for the renewals.

But the authorities grew wiser to the game and launched a concerted drive to put an end to it in the late '80s. Many groups were raided and hundreds of passports seized during searches on their premises. Thousands of Asian workers employed in sectors which are not authorised by the Ministry of Labour were exposed and ordered out or deported.

"Many of those who are now reporting lost passports are the ported.

mnants of those illegal workers," said an informed source.

"They managed to clude the authorities so far, but they always faced the problem of how to leave the country even with a passport since they had incurred hundreds, if not thousands, as penalties for overstaying their residence per-In a few cases, sources say, try on stolen passports and related residence documents. "Such departures are possible for people from certain distinct regions of India," commented one source. "Their features are almost undistinguishable and therefore most of them can pass

for one another at immigration

some managed to leave the coun-

Guest workers caught by the authorities face deportation; in such cases the penalties are waived and the concerned diplomatic mission arranges' for their passage home. Hundreds surrendered to the authorities to avail themselves of the exemption

But those who remained behind without proper documents for their work and stayed in Jordan had no option but to pay from the penalty and were de-

The Department of Foreigners Affairs at the Ministry of Interior reported a total of 1,950 residence permits — either renewed or issued for the first time granted to Indian nationals in

But informed sources say that several hundred remained without any permit during the year. "If they were to approach the authorities for proper work and residence permit, then they faced the prospect of paying several hundred dinars as work permit charges in addition to a huge sum as penalty for overstaying," said one source. "Very few of them had the money to do that."

With the general amnesty granted by His Majesty King Hussein on Nov. 14, those who have overstayed their permits have to pay the JD 1 per-day penalty only for the period after the date of the amnesty since all previous penalties were cancelled by the royal gesture.

Many have already taken advantage of the amnesty and left

RJ maintenance services to earn millions in fees

AMMAN (J.T.) -- Royal Jordanian (RJ), the national air carrier, Sunday announced that its aircraft maintenance facility will earn it millions of dollars for services to airlines operating in the region. An RJ press release said at least $4 million were expected shortly adding that the airline's servicing facility at Queen Alia International Airport (QAIA) has witnessed a growing demand for services on aircraft bodies and engines of international carriers

Four Pratt Whitney engines owned by Algerian Airways, a similar engine from Air France and another from Alyemda, the South Yemen airline, arrived early this year for checking, the statement said. Fees for servicing these engines alone should bring revenues of $1 million, RJ said.

Egypt Air and Egyptian ZAS Airline have concluded an engine servicing agreement with RJ. The engines are due in An coming two months, the press

It said RJ is also negotiating with the Lebanese Middle East Airlines (MEA) and Syrian Airways on similar service agree-

Alyemda Boeing 727 and a Boeing 707 owned by Comtran, a U.S. firm, the statement said.

Service and maintenance has been conducted by RJ on planes

Royal Jordanian's maintenance facility at Queen Alia Airport provides services to numerous international airlines (File photo)

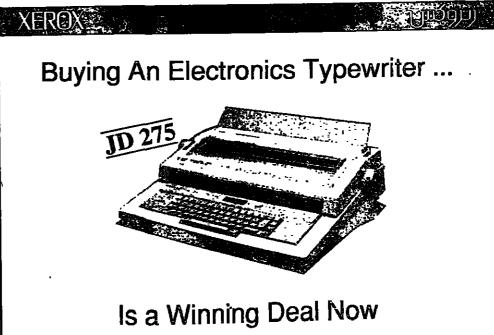

and engines owned by French, Canadian Sri Lankan, Cypriot, Yemeni, Algerian, Egyptian, Maintenance work is nearing Sudanese and Syrian airlines, in completion on the bodies of an addition to U.S. Seagreen and Buffalo airlines.

> Royal Jordanian recently reported highly successful operations during 1992, after overcom

ing the negative consequences of the Gulf crisis and the world economic recession RJ President and Chief Executive Officer Mahmoud Balqez told an RJ marketing conference in December last year that the airline's revenues came to nearly JD 253 million; an 18 per cent increase over 1991 figures.

designed for Xerox 6018 Electronic Typewriter is remarkably quiet, comfortable and convenient typing.

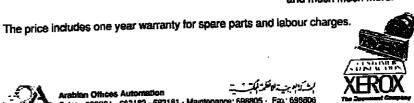

The screen allows you to view and edit your text. It also displays all the functions.

Memory of upto 31,000 characters. Fully automatic features including centering, emboldening and underlining of text. Automatic correction and much much more.

البشدة بوبيت الانتفر لمكب

Sales: 698804 - 663183 - 683181 - Maintenance: 698805 - Fax: 698806

By Waleed Sadi

Chairman of the Board of Directors: MAHMOUD AL KAYED

Director General:

MOHAMMAD AMAD

Editor-in-Chief: GEORGE S. HAWATMEH

Editorial and advertising offices: Jordan Press Foundation.

University Road, P.O. Box 6719, Amman, Jordan.

Telephones: 667171/6, 679141-4 Telex: 21497 ALRAI JO

Encyimile: 661242

The Jordan Times is published daily except Fridays. Subscription and advertising rates are available from the Jordan Times advertising department.

Frosty grip of ice

ACCORDING TO the latest weather reports from the department of Meteorology, rain and snow will again 'iii Jordan beginning "Monday night." This is both good and bad news. Good because Jordan call still use more rain to replenish its reservoirs and irrigate its land. The bad news, however, is that many people will exploit the new snowstorm to close shop and sit at home, decreasing productivity and straining resources thue to increased consumption. This is exactly what nappened last week when life in the Kingdom came to a near standstill when the first flakes of snow fell. Not anly were schools closed then but so were most public services, including many supermarkets, car garages, and even restaurants.

In a way, our people are to blame for showing panic uninecessarily, especially when they begin to hoard loodstuffs as if their stay at home will be forever. It is as if snowfall, even when light, has become a licence to stop work activities. On the other hand, though, the government has been contributing to this unfortunate state of affairs not only by encouraging stoppage practically at every conceivable level but also by not doi:ig enough to keep all arteries of the country open and safe for transportation.

If last week's demonstration by the concerned enthorities is anything to go by, many streets in the capital and other snew bound cities will this time be empassable or unsafe. The public cannot be expected to take incalculable risks and drive to work as long as the mublic sector confines its activities to only highways and thoroughfares, leaving streets and avenues unspeched by machinery or salt. There is an abundance of cheap salt, which is actually also not lit for human consumption, that can be easily used to melt accumulating snow and prevent dangerous ice from forming Seature of winter in Jordan, we would have thought that by now the authorities would be better prepared for all-weather possibilities.

Jerdanians need encouragement not to close their Africas and shops and go home at the first sight of Africands and snow storms. But they cannot be blamed for paying most attention and giving priority to their and their children's safety and well-being when the burcaucracy does not do its homework. There is a tremendous economic cost to the country every time it half: its activities because of bad weather, and this cost for exceeds any expense of the central government when preparing all official departments to cope with amorgancies. It would be worthwhile to consider the possibility of more snow falling in the weeks ahead, med in coming winters, and to plan for "no stoppage" comparigns when rain turns into snow and snow into ice en our mountain slopes.

ARABIC PRESS COMMENTARIES

AL RA'I Arabic daily described Israel's killing of Palestinians in the Gaza Strip Saturday as another link in the chain of atrocities that began with the expulsion of the 415 Palestinians to southern Lebanon. No doubt that Israel is being encouraged in its drive to pursue aggressive acts against the Palestinian people by the U.S. stand and the absence of sanctions imposed by the U.N. Security Council on the Jewish state's failure to comply with Resolution 799, the paper said. It said that by pursuing its inhuman practices and crimes in the occupied lands, Israel is trying to push the Arab parties away from the negotiating table and away from the peace process altogether. The paper said that in two days, the Israelis murdered six Palestinians, four of whom fell Saturday alone under the eyes of the world community which is doing nothing to come to the help of the oppressed people. Encouraged by the United States and condoned for its action by the Security Council, the Israelis will no doubt continue to commit crimes, the paper continued. One should not be surprised if Washington takes a step to reward Israel for its aggression and its continued disregard of the U.N. resolutions, the paper said. The killing of the Palestinians came close on the heels of a sinister deal between Israel and the United States which manifested itself first by an open Israeli defiance of the U.N. resolution, the paper added. The paper expressed apprehension of a new trend in American policy designed to further subdue the Arab parties and force them to go to the negotiations against their will, regardless of the fate of the Palestinians deported to southern Lebanon.

A COLUMNIST in Al Ra'i daily said that if Washington feels unable to force Israel to implement U.N. Security Council Resolution 799, it could never be able to force it to implement the previous resolutions. Tareq Masarweh said that Washington has to date failed to demand that Israel pull out of a single inch of southern Lebanon, in accordance with Resolution 425, nor did the U.S. ask Israel to ever stop killing Palestinian children and demolish Palestinian houses. At the same time, Washington seeks to end the Arab states' boycott of Israel, ensure Arab states' recognition of the Jewish state, make Arab forget about their isurped and occupied lands and capitulate to Israel's will, he said. With this state of affairs, Washington is not eligible to play a neediation role to end the Arab-Israeli conflict and, being totally biased towards Israel, there can be no point for Washington to send Warren Christopher to the Middle East, he added. The writer expressed belief that the ongoing peace talks could never achieve progress, even if they continued for 10 years, simply hecause Israel does not intend to give up occupied Arab land nor is Washington interested in such a development. It is regrettable, said the writer, to see Arab leaders declaring that they had reach of the point of no return in the peace talks with Israel at a time when the Arab leaders hear loud and clear Mr. Rabin's threatening the Arabs with pulling out of the negotiations should her name have his own way and should he be reprimanted by the Security Council for not complying with its resolutions.

Weekly Political Pulse

As dusk falls in Jabalia refugee camp in the Israeli-occupied

Gaza Strip, two Palestinian women, one pregnant, one holding the hand of a child, begin to traverse a stretch of wasteland.

of refugee shacks and are heading for a United Nations health centre. A maternity clinic is about to begin, and they are taking advan-

For the women are not alone on the stage. At the rear are the Israeli army lookout posts and a wire fence, shielding a military camp. Soldiers are crouching against the walls of the clinic, holding M-16 rifles trained on a large crowd of children who have gathered for the evening's entertainment: throwing stones at must pass directly between the soldiers and the children, in front of the line of fire, less than 15

metres from the guns. A shot rings out, and the women, now bending low, break into a difficult run, reaching the clinic doors unhurt. But the crowd of children is suddenly swarming, and an ambulance rushes out, picking up

Now a group of older children

- aged 15 perhaps -- clutching their stones, have climbed on to the clinic roof, directly above the soldiers, who are bolt upright, stiff with fear. More shots follow,

then big clouds of smoke appear.

"Gas, gas, gas." Some children run in fear, many yelp with excitement. Little ones hold hands, tears streaming down faces, shirts pulled up over mouths. They swarm back into the camp, into the tiny alleyways where the tear gas will sting them less. The faces are suddenly still, turned up to the fading lights are they wait and listen. None here looks older than 14, and many seem as young as four or five. The only sound now is choking or vomiting, mostly from young women with babies who have also run to the alleys from their homes nearer the gas.

In the last two months children have been killed and injured in e victim of the driving back to the clinic.

To reach the clinic the women

Israeli soldiers.

tage of a lull in the shooting.

They have emerged from a line

Israel-PLO negotiations are ineluctable

Although Israel's Labour-led government still insists on not dealing with the Palestine Liberation Organisation (PLO) directly, even after repealing its 1986 law banning contacts with the Palestinian organisation, there are solid reasons to believe that Israel is fast reconciling itself with the inevitability of negotiating with the PLO sooner rather than later. Till this point in time, the Israeli political machine has yielded only to the logic of talking with the Palestinian organisation in an indirect way, having recognised that its Palestinian interlocutors at the negotiating table are for all intents and purposes genuine PLO representatives. What keeps Israel from plunging deeper into the reality of the Palestinian equation could be only a tactical move aimed at extracting more concessions from the Palestinians. What could accelerate the Israeli movement in the direction of according the PLO full recognition is the emergence of the Hamas faction as a fast growing political and military force in the West Bank and Gaza Strip over the past few years. Israel was the first to recognise that Hamas' advancement was at the expense of other Palestinian PLO groupings, especially the centre and left of centre factions. Against this backdrop, Israel is faced with two alternatives: Either to play ball with the moderate Palestinian elements or risk leaving the field wide open to the rising fundamentalist organisations. The timing for rescinding the 1986 law outlawing contacts with the PLO suggests that indeed Israel is labouring on the premise that shunning the PLO as such would only play into the hands of Hamas in particular. It can be presumed therefore that in the course of the upcoming months, if not weeks, more Israeli moves will be taken to realise full Israeli-PLO dialogue. Palestinian leader Yasser Arafat is the only Arab leader in the post-Camp David era that is on record as calling for direct peace negotiations at the highest possible level. Mr. Arafat even proposed to visit Israel, something that no other Arab head of state has found acceptable to do at this stage of the negotiating process. What is holding Israel from responding to such Palestinian peace overtures is something that only time will resolve. It is more probable than not, however, that the point will be soon arrived at as Israel inches ever closer to direct contacts with the PLO.

What is also helping advance the PLO as a full-fledged player in the peace parleys is Jordan's refusal to replace the Palestinian organisation. His Majesty King Hussein has made it clear over and over again that he will not negotiate on behalf of the Palestinians even though considerable Palestinian constituencies would have hoped that he does. King Hussein's stance on this issue has been driven by one simple concern, and that is to help elevate the PLO to the role of full player in the peace process. The 1987 decision to break legal relations with the West Bank was also motivated by the national verdict that, on balance, it would be better for all sides to let the Palestinians speak for themselves and through their political institution, the PLO. Israel is inching closer to this conclusion and it is only a matter of time before the Labour-led government yields to the logic and momentum of this universally-held consensus: That in order to bind all future Palestinian generations to the projected Palestinian-Israeli peace it would be advantageous to earn the agreement and blessing of the PLO in particular.

Yet, Jordan's role will continue to be central and critical. Jordan has thus far provided an artificial umbrella that facilitated the Palestinians' active involvement in the peace process right from the start in the face of Israel's objections to talk peace with them on equal footing with the other parties to the peace talks. In addition, Jordan is still poised to facilitate the success of the Israeli-Palestinian negotiations by agreeing to entertain a pivotal role in the implementation of any agreed upon peace treaty between them. This could take the form of federation with the Palestinian political structure that is anticipated to emerge from the peace parleys. Such an arrangement would not only make any future Palestinian political infrastructures in the West Bank and Gaza Strip viable politically but also economically.

What the future holds for the region in terms of wider economic associations, bringing more Middle Eastern states together in one large common market, is something that is open for conjecture at this point in time. Yet the prospects are there to emulate other regions of the world by creating a regional economic market that can withstand the competition of other regions of the world. In spite of the existing frustrations and setbacks over the seemingly anaemic peace negotiations, whether on the bilateral or multilateral levels, there is a clear peace momentum that will continue to move forward, generated by its own inertia. This is the logic of contemporary history and the spirit of the new era in international

Gaza children live and die under the gun

By Sara Helm

Gaza in uprecedented numbers. Statistics prepared by UNRWA, the U.N. relief agency in Gaza and the West Bank, show that of the 28 Palestinians killed by Israelis in Gaza since the beginning of December, 10 were children under the age of 16; nine were shot by soldiers, one by a settler.

This is more in two months up to 12, or by severe beating or than in any full year since the by being struck by tear gas canisstart of the intifada in 1987. Between Dec. 2 and Jan. 23, 182 children were treated in UN-RWA clinics or local hospitals after being shot with live ammunition, defined as 5.56 calibre bullets with metal or plastic tips. Several more children were injured by plastic-coated metal marbles, fired in sprays of

The number of injuries above the abdomen led to reports, strongly denied by the army, that open-fire regulations, which say shots should be fired at legs first, had been relaxed. The death on Dec. 19 of 10-year-old Rana Abu Tuour, shot dead by a sniper in Khan Younis camp as she left home to buy milk, first highlighted the killings. This week the military governor of Khan Younis called the family to his office. "He said he apologised. He said they shot Rana by mistake," said her mother. But no explanation was given, no inquest report, no

Whether the open-fire regulations have changed or not, it is easy to see why the deaths happen. There are a lot of very nervous soldiers in Gaza. The killings in December of three soldiers by Palestinian gunmen heightened tension which has since been fuelled by fear of ... retaliation for Israel's seportation of 413 suspected Islamic militants, many from Gaza. A frightened Israeli soldier, posted to Gaza, has little training or experience to fall back on when intimidated by crowds of taunting children. There is no riot control procedure. He has no shield, no truncheon. He holds a gun and his first defence is to shoot. Whatever the rules, wherever he shoots in Gaza he will puncture a wall of children. Children flock everywhere. Some 800,000 Palestinians live here.

more than half in refegee camps. In the early days of the intifada perents tried to keep their children off the streets. It was the older youths who were seen throwing the stones in clashes with the army. But as the intifada spread, the children took directions less from their parents and more from the street leadership. Their only heroes now are the masked men, and children scan results of clashes pasted to mosque walls like children elsewhere n football average age of the stone-throwing activist is 13. The older youths are either jailed or directing events, having given up the stone for the gun.

Inside the U.N. clinic Dr. Salim Ramadan updates his medical records. He marks a spot on the drawing of a body, describes the injury, and ticks either LA (live aminunition) or PB (plastic bullet). On Jan. 16, when 11-year-old Shirreen Hussein was killed outside the clinic on her way to school, he marked a spot on the abdomen and ticked LA. This time he ticks LA but marks a spot on the leg. The 15-year-old boy shot this time was lucky.

Outside, pockets of children are still shouting taunts at the soldiers in Hebrew, getting closer to the wire. "Chicken, chicken. Drop your gun and fight me." The maternity clinic is getting under way - The Indepen-

Tough question for Clinton administration: Intervene abroad?

By David Briscoe The Associated Press

WASHINGTON -- The Clinton administration wants to focus on domestic issues, but foreign conflicts keep intruding.

Advocates on all sides of foreign disputes, members of Congress and other experts are pushing and pulling the new administration to take a stand or avoid action — in various conflicts.

During his first two weeks in office, President Clinton took no new foreign policy initiatives. He did not indicate whether he will commit U.S. troops or other resources to deal with crises inherited from President Bush in Haiti, Somalia, the Mideast, former Yugoslavia and elsewhere.

His rejection of Haitian boat people, the slow withdrawal of troops in Somalia, the standoff in Iraq and his announced plan to dispatch Secretary of State Warren Christopher to the Middle East all represent a cautious continuation of Bush policies.

Even his administration's tough questioning of a proposed peace plan for the Bosnian con-flict in former Yugoslavia is being viewed by some as a reluctance to commit to any increased U.S. role abroad. Acceptance of the plan by diplomats Cyrus Vance and Lord Owen could lead to a commitment of U.S. troops to ensure that it works.

As a candidate, Mr. Clinton said he supported stronger action than Mr. Bush in the Yugoslav conflict. As president, Mr. Clinton has yet to commit to any course of action.

The latest issue of the prestigious journal Foreign Affairs includes articles debating when, where and why the United States should intervene in other nations' affairs. The question is no longer the simple cold war issue of promoting democracy abroad against Soviet communism. Without the Soviet threat, the United States has to find a new set of criteria for intervention. "The United States will have to sort out and select its political objectives and the means it employs to achieve them far better than it has," said former Defence Secretary James Schlesinger in one article. The post-cold war world "is becoming more rather than less anarchic," says Mr. Schlesinger. "The United States is not called upon to, nor can it, cure all the world's misery," he says.

Both Mr. Clinton and former President Bush have taken similar positions. But both also have left room for unilateral U.S. military action when necessary. Mr. Bush committed U.S. troops in Panama, Iraq and Somalia, and Mr. Clinton said in his inaugural address: "When our the will and conscience of the international community is defied, we will act - with peaceful diplomacy whenever possible, with force when necessary."

Stephen John Stedman, assistant professor at Johns Hopkins University, says in another Foreign Affairs article that a "new interventionism" is emerging which seeks to end civil wars and stop government from abusing their peoples.

Mr. Stedman says Mr. Clinton is sympathetic with such goals but must be realistic, intervening only when it is ir. America's interest.

Intervention "applied according to the dictates of television, rather than the national interest of the United States" will likely lead to an era that is "more. confrontational, conflict-ridden and violent than the one that preceded it," Mr. Stedman says in the article.

Much of the debate has focused on the degree to which the United States should participate in collective enforcement of international goals with the United Nations and other multilateral organisations.

Analysts at the conservative Heritage Foundation were critical of the Bush administration for imposing self-restrictions on its foreign involvement by following United Nations, North Atlantic Treaty Crganisation (NATO) vital interests are challenged, or and World Bank goals.

"The United States should use coalitions with a keener eye toward protecting and preserving U.S. interests," said Kim Holmes, a Heritage vice president and defence policy analyst.

He said the Clinton administration will face a number of temptations to get involved abroad. The Somalia intervention, he said, "has muddied the discussion of the relationship between force and interest," since the United States intervened to help feed Somalis rather than to protect clear U.S. interests.

A report by a high-level com-mission on U.S. foreign policy issued during the transition from Mr. Bush to Mr. Clinton concluded: "We will inevitably rely more and more on collective security to cope with new military challenges - or they will not be dealt with at all."

The commission, headed by Winston Lord, now Mr. Clinton's assistant secretary of state for Asia, noted that at times the collapse of elected governments may be inevitable and that international pressure may inflict unacceptable hardship on a people.

"But as a general rule," it concluded, "the United States should join other nations to impose punitive measures on countries whose democratic governments have been (oppled by military coups or suspended by the national leadership."

LETTERS 799 now!

To the Editor:

On Jan. 20, 1993, Bill Clinton was inaugurated as the 42nd president of the United States of America. To many, the new administration is a breath of fresh air compared to the one led by former President George Bush. Or is it?

During the elections and throughout the campaign then Governor Clinton reiterated his position, time and again, that his foreign policy would be no different from the one of the Bush administration regarding the Middle East conflict, and the ongoing Arab-Israeli peace talks.

The double standard the U.S. is using in regard to U.N. Security Council resolutions targeted against Iraq and Israel is unprecedented. The U.S. is stalling any U.N. Security Council meetings to deal with the Palestinian deportees, alleging that more peaceful actions should get underway, before any sanctions are taken against Israel.

Security Council resolutions should be implemented with no double vision in mind. Is this what the so-called new world order former President Bush called for is all about? Enforcing U.N. resolutions on Iraq, and only Iraq, for something that has happened and is done with, and not enforcing them on a nation that commits atrocities on daily basis seems to be a trait of this

Israel should not think for one moment that its practices are accepted by the world body; it should realise that aggression will not go unpunished, regardless of who Israel is hiding behind. I think that the Arabs should use their powers on the right people to make them pressure Israel to enforce Resolution 799 and to take all the deportees back.

> Samer Farraj, P.O. Box 5225, Amman.

The Jordan Times welcomes letters and contributions from its readers on any subject they wish to tackle. Letters intended for publication, however, should contain the writer's full name and preferably address as well. Names can be withheld only upon request and under special circumstances. Letters are subject to editing. The newspaper is not responsible for the return of unused

House rejects

(Continued from page 1)

nd the history of the Hashemites. Muslim Brotherhood Deputy Hamnam Sa'id refused the argument that ordan has to comply with the resolu-ions of the Security Council because the lews are refusing to implement

J.N. resolutions. J.N. resolutions."

Reminding deputies that violating nernational law is an act that proceed international punishment, Deouty Abdul Majid Shreideh noted the lack of such legislation in the Charter of the Arab League.

Mr. Shreideh pointed to Iraq's actions with Socretite Causail.

compliance with Security Council re-colutions, and said that the proposed aw would harm national interests. (This proposed law) deals with politics through slogans at the expense of national interests." he said, Asserting that international law is the law of the United States and Israel, Deputy Hussein Mjalli said Jordan must respect what he called "a national charter" according to which, he said, aggression on one Arub state is an aggression on the whole Arab

"Our frustration with Arab division and national regression should not lead lead us to hurt ourselves." Depulead tead us to fluit conserves. Deputing and former Prime Minister Taher Al Masri told the House, recalling Jordan's support for Iraq and the heavy price he said the Kingdom paid

"Through the positions I held in the past, I know that what we did for Iraq far exceeds what has been made public," he said. "We took risks and probably achieved miracles in order to support Iraq. History will reveal this national Jordanian role in the future," said Mr. Masri, who opposed oposed bill in his comments have did not vote against it when it was put

Mr. Masri said the timing of the proposal might give the impression that Jordan did not fulfil its national obligation towards Iraq. He urged deputies to drop the motion.

"There is no need for fear or attempts to intimidate," Deputy Salim Al Zoubi said, rejecting the argument that proposing the law might imply that Jordan did not sep-

Taking the floor after Mr. Masri. Mr. Zoubi said that the proposed law was an expression of a stand and a policy and that arguments that it would harm Jordan were groundless.

Also with a narrow majority, the House Sunday turned down a proposat to draft a law making voting in purliamentary elections mandatory

e all eligible citizens. Thirty-one out of 50 deputies veter gainst the proposed bill, which was presented to the House by 19 de-

Arguing against the proposal, Deputy Ali Al Fagir said it was unconstinational to force citizens to cast their nuce in parliamentary elections.

He said it was people's right and not duty to vote, adding that the proposed law would amount to an entroachment on personal freedoms. Other deputies who opposed the rection cited difficulties in implaneating proposed law as a reason for tejecting it. Instead of forcing people to vote, efforts should be centred on clucating them on the need to excer-cise their constitutional right to vote.

they said.

Advocates of the law argued that the Constitution names the people as the source of authority and they must therefore east their votes in order to ensure that the views of the majority are considered.

"How could we ensure that (Parliament) represents the people if only 30 per cent of eligible voters cast their votes," said Mr. Mjali.

Islamist deputies were particularly opposed to the motion on the grounds that a mandatory voting law was impossible to implement and would infringe on personal freedoms. These deputies enjoy high turnout in their constituencies and many observers say a higher turnout of voters would reduce the number of seats the Isla-mic movement has in the House.

According to one deputy, a recent study has shown that if voter turnout "is nine per cent higher than" that of the 1989 elections there will be a 50 per cent change in the composition of the House. The study, said the deputy, did not specify which political trends will benefit or lose from the projected change. No further in-formation on the study or who conducted it was available.

Expressing support for the nearly 400 Palestinians expelled to South Lebanon by the Israeli government in December, the foreign affairs and Palestine and occupied Arab territories committes of the House Sunday proposed that the House initiate joint Arab parliamentary action to empha-sise the need for implementing Retec's recommedation.

The committees also proposed that the House form a delegation to seek the formation of an Arab parliamentary group that would visit the Euro-pean Parliament and other international organisations in an effort to urge the implementation of Resolu-

The House also endorsed a general pardon issued by King Hussein in November as presented by government despite arguments that the draft law was unconstitutional.

Mr. Mjalli said it was unconstitutional to issue tempoary general par-don laws when the House was not sitting because the penalty code says "the House is the constitutional authority to initiate such legislations."
"The draft law is null and void and that should be made public," Mr. Mjulli said, adding that only private pardons can be issued if the House is not in session. He said issuing a temporary general pardon law gives the people affected by it acquired rights that cannot be later revoked, thus "confiscating" the right of the House to reject the law.

Vir. Faqir rejected the argument saying that the House could still amend the draft law after it was issued. He said the emergency situa-tion that the Constitution says gives the King the right to issue a tempor-ary draft law on general pardon was present in the country when the pardon was issued.

The House, which will hold its next meeting Wednesday, also agreed to raise to 18 the membership of a committee formed by the House last week to investigate alleged nepotism and favouritism in civil service

% Dajami jewellers

World Resources.

Gems dealers. Jewellers. Jewellery designers.

Amman Since 1988 Amra Hotel Shops. 6th Circle.

Rio De Janeiro Since 1975. av. N.S. Copacabana, 195 Copacabana, Rio De Janeiro.

The Touch Of Class In The World Of Gems.

في المركز التفافي الملكي يوم الحميس ١١ شياط ١٩٩٣ الساعة الثامنة مساء au CENTRE CULTUREL ROYAL le 11 fevrier 1993 à 20h00 المركز التقاني الفرنسي وكلية العلاج الوظيفي LE CENTRE CULTUREL FRANCAIS D'AMMAN & THE OCCUPATIONAL THERAPY COLLEGE

– سعر التذكرة ٧ دنانير ولباع في - فنف الماديوت ت: ١٩٠١٠٠ . المركز الثقاني اللكي ت. ١٦١٠٢٦ الركر الثقافي الفرنسي ت: ١٢٦٥٥ ، علم كشمير ت: ١٠١١ه.

Israel says expulsion policy remains

THE REPORT OF THE PROPERTY OF

(Continued from page 1)

erate than Mr. Rabin. "Israel that Middle East peace talks conaccepted it. Now we have to let vene in April as hoped. the United States implement it." Mr. Peres said he saw no need

"What am I, a hawker of compromises," said an agitated for fresh "concessions" to ensure Peres, who leaves on Wednesday for talks with Clinton administration officials in Washington.

"The United States took it upon itself to overcome this matter with the proposal it suggested and Israel accepted this proposhe said.

U.S. Secretary of State Warren

auxious for a compromise that would defuse the evicter crisis and allow fresh Middle East

Cabinet Secretary Elyakim Rubenstein, who leads Israeli negotiations with the Palestinians at the peace talks, said after the Christopher, who plans a Middle cabinet meeting there was no East tour this month, had been change in the U.S.-brokered agreement. The evictees have vowed not to leave their camp until all are allowed to return. Palestinians attending the peace talks have emphasised that they want to continue, but they say popular pressure in the occu-pied West Bank and Gaza Strip makes that impossible before the return of all evictees, Palestinian leader Yasser Arafat has reiterated his rejection of the U.S.-brokered deal,

He also said remarks by Mr. Rabin threatening to expel hundreds more Polestinians did not encourage a compromise settlement to the dispute.

NATIONAL BLOOD BANK WEST AMMAN BRANCH

Equipment and technical assistance provided by

Blood Systems Inc., Scottsdale, Arizona, USA.

NATIONAL BLOOD BANK WEST AMMAN BRANCH

Design and Supervision by

Salwa Nemeh Est. Architect and Design Consultants Amman Tel. No. 828601

The Private Hospitals Owners Society Blood Bank Supportive Committee in Jordan

Extends its gratitude to H.E. The Minister of Health and to H.E. The Ambassador of the United States of America in Jordan for their support in establishing a BLOOD BANK in Western Amman and their effort in upgrading the medical profession and Patient Care in Jordan.

The Committee also extends its gratitude for all those who supported such a noble and humanitarian gesture.

> President Private Hospitals Owners Society

When you ask people why they choose DHL, every answer is different. Some simply say they want the best, the fastest and the most reliable air express service to care for their shipmerits. Others will tell you about how DHL understands their business and helps them to meet vital deadlines. Still others will tell you remail able stories of the extra trouble a DHL employee will take to guarantee customer satisfaction Whatever way they answer, DHL customers all have one thing in common They know they've made the right choice. We couldn't express it better

WORLDWIDE EXPRESS

4 RENT & SALE

Many villas and apartments are available for rent and sale, furnished

Also many plots of land

For further details,

Abdoun Real Estate

Tel.: 810605/810S09

Fax: 810520

are available for sale.

or unfurnished.

please call:

JORDAN MARKET PLACE

THE PROFESSIONALS ALWAYS CHOOSE THE RELIABLE

PACKING, AIR FREIGHT FORWARDING, DOOR-to DOOR SERVICES AND DELIVERIES CUSTOMS CLEARANCE, TICKETS AND, RESERVATIONS.

AMIN KAWAR & SONS. TEL. 604676 604696

available

Open Daily 12.30~3.30 pm 7.30-ft.30 pm

After the Philadelphia Hotel

Towards 3rd circle

Tel:659519 659520...

Safety And Style

28 694-882

et Aramex Air Cargo ake care of the works, Door to Door. Call the friendly professionals on 360507 or 660508 4RAMEX TO CAPOO

CROWN INTL EST.

Packing, shipping

Forwarding, storage

worldwide removals

Air, Sea and Land

TEL: 66 40 90

FAX: 69 08 52

★ Kais Dryclean, 1 Hr Service

★ Keys Service cleaning 6 Branches at YOUR Service Mecca Street, behind Pizza Hut, phone 821656, Fax 828163

AUTHENTICKS

coloriul atmosphere

CHINESE CUISINE

Hour Service Develop your colour film at our shop and get:-* JUMBO photo size 30% larger * Free enlargement 20 x 30 cm

STUDIO HAIG

Professional Quality in

Shmeisani - Opp. Grindlays Bank, Phone: 604042 Swefich tel: 82,891

CHEN'S CHINESE RESTAURANT Mecca Street, Yarmouk Engineers' Housing Estate, near Kilo Supermarket

Mongolian Barbeque for Lunch Friday only Tel: 818214 Come and taste our specialities Open daily 12:00 - 3:30 6:30 - Midnight

Town and Amman now has its own.

Where you can enjoy the most exquisite Chinese dishes for lunch and dinner.

Banquet and take-away service

All chefs from Peking, China

China Town

at the Amman Plaza Hotel

Tel. 674295 or 674111 - ext. 6338

AURAN' The first & best in Jordan Ahliyyah Guls School

Tako oway is available Open daily 12:00-3:30

7:00 — Midnight Tel. 638968

The First Class Hotel in

Amman that has a

Kitchenette in every

MANDARIN RESTAURANT

Special Chinese Foods

Skilled Chinese Chefs

Open 11:30-2:30 & 6 (0-11:50 date)

Take away is available

Wadi Sagra Read

near Philadelphia Hotel

Tel. 661922, Ammon

Ince Tested

Always Loved

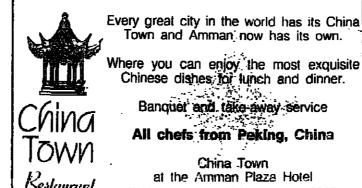

Amman - Tel 668193 O Box 9403 Faz 602434 Telez 23888 DAROTL JO Ideal Residence For Expatriates and Businessmen

TEL 819564

Navratilova clinches record 162nd career singles title

Martina Navratilova clinched a record 162nd career singles title by sweeping aside unseeded Larisa Savchenko-Neiland 6-2 6-2 in the final of the Toray Pan Pacific Open indoor tennis tournament

For good measure, the American then went back on the court with Helena Sukova to win the doubles final, beating the fourthseeded Lori McNeil and Rennae Stubbs 6-4 6-3.

Navratilova, appearing in her first tournament since losing to Monica Seles in the final of the Virginia Slims contest in New York last November, was in devastating form from the outset with her consistently powerful serve and brilliant cross-court backhands.

"I haven't won here for a while. I lost in the final the last two years (to Gabriela Sabatini). so I'm just happy to win," said the 36-year-old Navratilova, a winner here in 1989. "It's nice to finally win and to beat Steffi (Graf) in the process. That makes "it really special," she added.

Navratilova, who takes away the $150,000 prize money, broke her opponent's serve in the sixth and eighth games of the first set, but failed to hold her first service game in the second set.

However, she soon unleashed a string of accurate and heavy first serves to hold her own serve and went on to break the Latvian in the fourth, sixth and eighth games, wrapping up the match in

 Navratilova, who ousted number one seed Graf in Saturday's

Martina Navratilova holds up the winner's trophy after winning the Toray Pan Pacific Open (AFP photo)

tinued her indomitable storming. of the net, leaving a somewhat bemused Savchenko-Neiland powerless to pass her.

"I pulled a muscle in my left leg when warming up this morning. so found it difficult to play the volleys," the Latvian said.

The heavy-serving Savchenko-Neiland, ranked 74th in the world, rarely managed to get in her first serve and made numerous double faults.

"She has the hardest second serve in women's tennis, so I guess she figured she just had to go for broke," said Navratilova, who now leads Savchenko-Neiland 8-1 in their head-to-head

Navratilova's spectacular win comes amidst talk of her possible retirement from the game this was even born.

"I'm not retiring completely from the game. It's not as if I'm going to go out and start collecting social security," the veteran said.

"It's just that when I beat Seles or Graf in a final, I say I'm going to continue. But then the next week I lose in the second round of a tournament, and I think I'm definitely going to retire."

With this victory she jumps up two places to number three in the WTA computer world rankings, nudging down Arantxa Sanchez Vicario and Sabatini.

Navratilova, playing in her 21st ar of competition tennis and 19th as a prefessional, won her first tournament 20 years ago in Pilsen, Czechoslovakia, before world number one Monica Seles

Iran moves to 2nd round after 5-0 win over Jordan

By Aleen Bannayan Special to the Jordan Times

AMMAN - Iran Sunday completed a convincing 5-0 victory over Jordan in the Davis Cap Asia/Oceania Zone Group 2 first round tie when they won the reverse singles and qualified to the second round in which they will face China.

It was again game, set and match for Iran as Mustafa Saleh overcame Imad Abu Hamda 6-4, 6-2 while earlier his young team mate Mohammad Reza Tavakolli won his match against Hani Al Ali when Jordan's No. 1 had to pull out of the match because of an aggravated cramp which had caused his loss in the singles match Friday. Tavakolli had won the first set 6-3 and was leading 3-0 in the second set when the match was halted.

Jordan will now have to beat Malaysia in the play-off in April to secure their place in Group 2. The Iranian team's arrival statement certainly came true. "We are well-prepared. We came to win," team administrator Abbas Golshani had told the three-day competition. Jordan's Ali lost his singles match Friday after he was leading 7-6, 6-1. Iran's Mustafa Saleh then won the next three sets 6-2, 6-2, 6-1 with Ali limping because of a cramp throughout the final three sets.

Jordan Times. The Iranian team's preparedness contrasted with the snags the Jordanian team faced during the

Because of Ali's condition the doubles match he was supposed to play with partner Abu Hamda was altered to include Faris Al Azzouni and Abu Ham da. Later on Laith and Faris Al Azzouni team could have played better. chance played the doubles and were no They must play better in the again."

match to Iran's Mansour Bahrami future." and Mohammad Khodai.

In the final singles match Sunday, attended by Her Majesty Queen Noor, Iran's Saleh sealed his country's win with the two-set match as everything seemed to be going wrong for Jordan's secondranked Abu Hamda, who had played well despite losing to Iran's semi-professional Mansour Bahrami 6-4, 6-3, 6-3 in the opening match Friday. Saleh made Abu Hamda run throughout the court and broke his opponent's serve in the third ne while holding his to lead

Abu Hamda had two aces in the seventh game but his powerful serves did not help as he rushed the net and committed a series of unusual mistakes. He thus lost his serve and Saleh established a commanding 5-2 lead. Abu Hamda then won the following game as Saleh doublefaulted and was thrice held at deuce. Abu Hamda also won the ninth game, but eventually lost the first set 6-4.

Abu Hamda could only win the third and fifth games of the second set which Iran's Saleh won 6-2 with precision shots and concentration.

"Imad was not playing his usual game today. I am surprised at the way be played," Jordan's head coach told the Jordan Times. "Had he played the way he did against Bahrami Friday the result would have been very different. The Iranian player played very well though," he added. Iran's Saleh commented: "I did not play very well Friday. Today I had nothing to lose, because we had already secured the win." He added: "I think the Jordanian

Jordan's Abu Hamda said he felt bad he lost as he wanted to secure one win for Jordan. "Once I was behind in the first set I felt it hard to get the proper rhythm. I felt confused. It's a shame be-cause I felt I could beat this opponent. I guess it was an unlucky day," he said. The Kingdom's top-ranked Ali said his doctor had advised him not to play after Friday, "He left it up to me. Unfortunately, I could not move properly. My leg was sore ever since it cramped in Friday's singles. I guess I shouldn't have continued the match in that situation," he said.

Iran's team administrator said his team had looked forward to a closer tie. "Unfortunately there were some shortcomings for the Jordanian team due to lack of proper preparation and training. Maybe the whole team did not have enough time to have a systematic training," he com-mented. "In today's tennis you cannot hope to score good results without proper and sufficient training. It is also important to have at least ten good players of the same level to substitute for one another."

Mr. Golshani added "this is a team event. You have to have a good team and not one or two good players."

The Iranian team's administrator thanked the Jordan Tennis Federation and their efforts and arrangements to make the tie a successful one. "We look forward to our upcoming tie against China, and we wish the Jordanian team the best of luck against Malaysia. We hope Jordan will win and stay in the second group and hopefully we will have the chance to play against each other

HOROSCOPE

PORECAST FOR MONDAY FEBRUARY 8, 1993 By Thomas S. Pierson, Astrologer, Carroll Righter Foundation

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Projects requiring special attention where intricate or detailed work is concerned are facilitated by friendly aspects to a Virgo moon today. That special tool or appliance can

ARIES: (March 21 to April 19) Until noon complete whatever of a worldly nature that has been on your mind and then you will find it is advisable to tackle long time

TAURUS: (April 20 to May 20) Be alert to some improvements in your methods of operation after which you find it necessary to use tact and diplomacy with a closed minded person.

GEMINI: (May 21 to June 21) Get into what attachment desires of you and quickly do it during the ing while later steer clear of tasks that are tiresome and boring. MOON CHILDREN: (June 22 to July 21) A hardheaded business person can be best for you in solving all problems early in the day and tonight sidestep some ex-travagant pleasure.

LEO: (July 22 to August 21) Much of value follows quick action on your part in tackling your various routine activities while later sides-

VIRGO: (August 22 to September 22) Make whatever appointments and engagements you wish in the morning for your future entertain-ments while later communication can be upsetting to you.

LIBRA: (September 23 to October 22) Money and other practical matters should work out very well for you in the morning, but tonight be careful not to commit yourself to heavy expenses.

SCORPIO: (October 23 to November 21) Handling all communica-tions can be expeditiously done early in the day while later you find you are thwarted in gaining a personal

SAGITTARIUS: (November 22 to December 21) Your morning can be well spent in doing whatever will improve your practical affairs while later a secret worry can keep you from constructive activities.

CAPRICORN: (December 22 to January 20) You are able to do what you want to bring to yourself the aims which mean most to you personally early; later avoid a time consuming acquaintance.

AQUARIUS: (January 21 to February 19) Private discussions with those in the know show you a better pathway for the future while tonight avoid a demanding person

PISCES: (February 20 to March 20) A purposeful longtime supporter can give you the right means by which to gain longings so listen carefully, follow; later avoid a

It really loosened me up."

Tennis great Arthur Ashe dies from AIDS

NEW YORK (R) — Tennis great true. He said he felt hounded by Arthur Ashe, the first black to win the Wimbledon men's title. died Saturday of pneumonia re-sulting from AIDS. He was 49. Although he had publicly admitted he had the incurable

.... Stunned players, fans and politicians alike paid tribute to his achievements on and off the disease 10 months ago, his death

: nevertheless shocked the sports

Simply put, words cannot suffice to capture a career as glorious, a life as fully lived, or a commitment to justice as firm and as fair as was his," said New York Mayor David Dinkins,

... Ashe's long-time friend.
... Martina Navratilova, who heard of Ashe's death just before winning the final of the Toray Pan-Pacific Open tennis tournament in Yokohama, Japan, called him a man who helped change the world. "I found it difficult to keep my mind on the match at first," a sad Navratilova told a news conference after trouncing Larisa ... Savchenko-Neiland 6-2 6-2. "It just made me realise how important life is and how unimportant a tennis match is. "He was an extraordinary human being who transcended his sport, his race, religion and nationality and in his own way helped to change the world." When news of Ashe's death was announced before the start of Saturday night's heavyweight title fight at Madison Square Garden between champion Riddick Bowe and Michael Dokes, spectators stend in silence to pay homage. Ashe admitted at a news conference in April 1992 that rumours that he had AIDS were the news media into admitting his infection.

WITH OMAR SHARI

Ashe said he got AIDS through blood transfusions but had kept it a secret since 1988 because he thought the stigma that AIDS patients endure would subject his daughter Camera to taunts. Former tennis star Billie Jean

King, a strong campaigner for women's rights, remembered Ashe as a crusader and pioneer for the rights of blacks and AJDS

"Arthur always said that it was tougher being a black man than having AIDS," said King, holder of 20 Wimbledon titles.

A heart attack forced Ashe to retire from competitive tennis in 1979, and he was infected with the AIDS virus from tainted blood he received as he recovered from heart surgery, most likely after his second operation in

A modest and quiet man, Ashe spent a lifetime defying colour barriers and beating huge odds from his youth in segregated Virginia to Wimbledon, where in 1975 he upset Jimmy Connors. eight years his junior, to become the first black to win the men's

"He was out doing things, making his point and taking care of business right up until the end. and I guess that sums up every-thing that he stood for. No matter what the problem or challenge was, he always went out and made sure he got his point across. 'said Connors.

Ashe was admitted to New York hospital Friday afternoon. No other details were immediately available and a statement from the family was expected later.

Arthur Ashe holding his daughter Camera, in 1987

After his first heart operation in 1979, Ashe was named Davis Cup captain and steered the team to victories in the 1981 and 1982

Ashe scored his first major triumph in 1968, winning the U.S. Open. He won the Australian Open in 1970 and was runner-up at the 1971 Australian and 1972 U.S. Opens.

He said the happiest moment of his life was not winning Wimbledon, but when anti-apartheid political prisoner Nelson Mandea was freed from a South African jail in 1990.

Peanuts

Jordan basketball title matches postponed again... Tuesday match scheduled by the JBF admitted wrongdoing JBF would be postponed until a on the part of the referees but fact-finding committee reinvestigates the disputed match. citing Article 68 of the Interna-

By Aleen Bannayan Special to the Jordan Times

AMMAN — Determining the 1992 first division basketball championship titleholder will require some patience from the teams and basketball fans and will indefinitly put on hold all future activities scheduled by the Jordan Basketbali Federation (JBF).

The reason for this is vet another postponement of the much-awaited new round of the Ahli-Orthodoxi clash, the first match of which was scheduled for Tuesday Feb. 9 after the JBF Thursday announced a titleholder-deciding best-of-3 round in a bid to resolve the controversy which hit the first division championship.

The latest postponement was announced Sunday after the secretary-general of the Ministry of Youth, Eid Al Fayez, met the JBF board to discuss the appeal presented by Al Ahli regarding their disputed second match against Al Orthodoxi.

The ministry's spokesman Waqqas Al Tal told the press that the and presents its recommenda- tional Basketball Federation tions to the JBF.

Al Ahli had won the final match of the first round 68-65 on Dec. 30. The dispute concerns the final match of the second round on Jan. 26 which Al Orthodoxi won 84-81 in overtime. Al Ahli presented a written objection to the JBF after the second match citing "obvious mismanagement of the match by the referees." Al Ahli based their objection on the fact that two extra points were awarded to Al Orthodoxi, which the court referee ruled out but were wrongly put on the scoresheet. According to Al Ahli, their players and officials approached the scoresheet referee to correct the mistake but were disregarded and told to "get on with the match."

Al Ahli stresses that the elimination of the two points at the moment of the mistake would have given them 75-73 win at the end of the second half of the match and hence the 1992 title.

held on to the result of the match rules which stipulate that a team cannot object to mistakes after the match. The JBF based their decision on a recommendation by its Referees Committee which said that Al Ahli had not formally protested the two points during the match.

The JBF's objection of Al Ahli's protest and its acceptance of Al Orthodoxi as the winner of the disputed match warranted a third match as both teams tied with 27 points in the overall standings. Al Ahli however refused to play a deciding match and appealed to the Ministry of Youth. The JBF then announced the first postponement of the match on Jan. 29 and later announced a new ruling of the best-of-3 round.

All must now await the factfinding committee's recommendations to the JBF and hope the controversy ends as soon as

JUMBLE THAT SCRAMBLED WORD GAME by Henri Arnold four ordinary words WYDON THE PART NAME KOSTE TIMLEG HOW THE PAWN -BROKER FELTALL BY HIMSELF. GANTEM Now arrange the circled letters to form the surprise answer, as suggested by the above cartoon. Print answer here: "

Jumbles: FANCY PRUNE ATTACH HELIUM What the fashion plate had when he got his tallor's bill—A REAL FIT THE Daily Crossword by Betty Jorgenses housing 4 French river 15 Dressed 16 Italian noble family 17 Literary 18 Difficult 19 Stiff collar 20 Question to Brutus 21 Joytul 22 Stik cloth 24 Become alert 32 Felse gods 35 Looped handle 37 "Thin Man" st 38 On a --- (flucky)

41 Concept: pref. 42 htsh Gaelic Yesterday's Puzzle Salved: Pro word 9 Applaud 10 Wysti — 11 Whirlpool 13 Western wear 15 Western wear 25 Afternoon socials 27. Crowning glory 29 Not new

43 Confuse

44 Oktahoman 46 Pros' toes 48 Biblical king

50 Urges to active 54 Flower pert 57 Mideast gulf 59 — Bator 60 "— a song

oc..." 61 Titan of myth

63 Sed word 64 Silly ones 65 Graf — 66 Spoli

DOWN 1 Precipitous 2 Basil-base

4 In the arms of

MANGE HEE GERAL SHEEL DADE TOR BASICHESTHICT DOUGHS SHE CERS PER DSERE GERRE 31 Take a chance 32 Rainbow Extinct bird

51 Run off 52 in the future 53 Curl the lip 56 Scat lady 56 Anjou, for one 58 Let up 61 Turkish title

GOREN BRIDGE

WEST EAST +QJ9 ⊽10 ± 10 6 3 ŸAJ53 🕈 Q 10 7 +632

NORTH

V 9 7 6

♠8754

SOUTH VK9842 O Void # A K 9 8 5 The bidding:

South 1 🗸 North East 3 ◊ Pass Pass 4 ∇ 20 Pass Page

Opening lead: King of O
The bridge club had proclaimed it
The Year of the Bad Break. To Trump Coup Tommy, it was paradise. As declarers around him were falling like flies, Tommy was bring-ing home impossible contract after possible contract. As our readers know, Tommy starred only when trumps broke badly. On normal hands he would find more ways to go down than any five other mem-bers of the club.

We really can't fault Tommy's bidding on this hand, although he might have tried a takeout double at his second turn just in case partner wanted to convert to penalties.

West led the king of diamonds, ruffed in the closed hand. When on a low trump lead West produced the ten, Tommy's posture oozed confidence. The queen of hearts lost to the ace and back came the queen of diamonds. Instead of ruffing, Tommy discarded the two of spades! The next diamond was ruffed, the ace and king of chibs were cashed and a club was ruffed on the board. A trump was led from the table and Tommy confidently finessed the nine. Then came the king of hearts, leaving East with the only trump in

Now Tommy led a good club, and the beauty of not ruffing the second diamond became obvious. After ruffing East, exhausted of dia-monds, had to concede defeat. His forced spade return provided Tommy with the entry to cash the last club, so declarer sailed bome with two spades, four trumps, three clube and a club ruff.

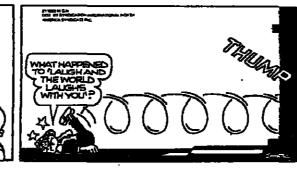

Andy Capp

Mutt'n'Jeff

AMMAN FINANCIAL MARKET HOUSING RANG CENTER, AMERIN - SERRIGARY TELEPROPEN 660170 / 663170 MARKET SHARE PRICE LIST FOR SURDAY 07/02/1993 84,035 136.250 136.500 136.000 10,958 5.130 5.100 5.100 5,290 23.000 23.000 23.000 4,506 3.750 3.750 3.740 9,380 4.180 4.160 4.160 5,503 2.520 2.500 2.500 APAR SAME JOSEAN BATTOMAL BANK GANK OF JOSEAN 4.850 4.750 4.180 3.380 5.550 1.840 3.950 3.850 3.850 3.960 3.300 3.300 3.300

MET THAL SAVINGLINVESTMENT FOR IN MASAN BARK FOR INVESTMENT nidolī ģast lēsuramie THE RATIONAL ABLEA ING M'ABER LORS LAND LE CENT ATTRECEP COMST. NATURAL NAM THE JOSQUE CHERT FACTORIES JOSQUE PROSPERTE MINES JOSQUE PRINCIPE BEFIRARY ADDS PERMOCRUTTCAL MANUFACTURI JOHNAM CARANTC LIGUISTRIES JOHNAM BAIRY THE PROBLEM PLIES MANUFACTURING THE PUBLIC MINING ADDS CHESTCAL DECEMBER IMMOST SPENDERS & MERVING

RATA INDUSTRIES
JORDA CLASS ISSUSTRIES
DAL R. DANA DEVELOPMENT & INVESTMENT ARE INVESTMENT & INCENTIONAL TRADE
ARE ALEGUNUM ISSUSTRY COMMAN HEDICAL CON CRIES STRO-CHROICAL INCOSTRING PERCAST CONCRETE

NO. OF TRADED SHARES IN PARALLEL MARKET : TRADERS VOCUME IN THE PARALLEL MARKET : JD

Financial

. 5. 6

Foreign Exchange Market Summarv (February 1 — February 5, 1993)

11450

AMMAN - Market onus shifted decisively in favour of the U.S. unit during last week as the dollar railined throughout, ending the week three per cent higher against the mark, 2.9 per cent higher against sterling, but little changed against the yen. While the much-awaited for interest rate cuts in Germany on Thursday, had a significant impact, the dollar was also bound by increasing evidence of U.S. economic improvement, which contrasted with the signs of faltering economic performance in

After rebounding to 1.6113 marks at the end of the previous week; the dollar jumped again Monday closing in New York at 1:6350 marks. It then maintained an impressive up-trend during the next two days, breaching further technical levels.

Reports said that the announcement of a devaluation in the Irish punt within the ERM, during the previous weekend, resurged market concerns over the European Monetary System. But unlike previous time, the dollar was the main beneficiary. rather than the mark, as market seniment had turned in favour of the U.S. currency.

dollar after it successfully breached the significant 1.60 mark barrier at the end of the previous week. But even more important, a string of U.S. economic reports were released with results far better than market expectations, which confirmed that the pace of economic recovery in the U.S. was picking up faster than had previously been expected, thus illuminating any remaining possibility of an interest rate cut by the Fed. In contrast, German economic statistics indicated that the German economy was plunging into a recession. The Bundesbank surprised most market participants per cent Thursday by announcing a cut in the German discount rate by 0.25 per cent to eight per cent, and a 0.50 per cent cut in the, internationally important. Lombard rate to nine per cent.

Reserve requirements were also eased. Analysts commented that the German central bank must have been pressured to take this step, finally, despite high inflation, because of concern over mounting fears that the ERM might be on the verge of falling apart, particularly after the plunge in the Danish krone against the mark on Wednesday, as well as concern over German economic performance.

The dollar thus railied Thursday, and again Friday helped by the release of another positive U.S. employment report for

U.S. Dollar
Светевсу	29/1/93 Close	5/2/93 Clese	Percent Change
Sterling Pound	1.4870	1.4445	(2.86)$
Deutsche Mark	1.6113	1.6603	12.9518
Swiss Franc	1.4480	1.5325	[2.90]8
French Franc	5.4545	5.6125	12.8718
lapanese Yen	124.65	124.40	0.20 %

Согтепсу	Bid	Offer
U.S. Dollar	0.6920	0.6940
Sterling Pound	0.9997	1.0047
Deutsche Mark	0.4168	0.4189
Swiss Franc	0.4512	0:4535
French Franc	0_1232	0.1238
Japanese Yen?	0.555$	0.5583
Dutch Guilder .	0.3732	0.3721
Swedish Krona	0.0928	0.0933
Italian Lira®	0.0451	0,0453
Belgian Franc	0.02020	0.02030
Per 100

Finnish economic contraction exceeds depression of 1930s

HELSINKI (R) — Finland's economy, hurt by the breakup of the former Soviet Union, has shrunk more in the last two years than it did during the Great Depression of the 1930s, officials have said.

Official preliminary figures showed gross domestic product (GDP) fell 3.5 per cent in 1992 after tumbling 6.4 per cent in 1991, the Central Statistical Office said.

Economists say the collapse of trade with the former Soviet Union, the bursting of a 1980s boom and oversupply in the world forestry industry all contributed to the shrinking of Finland's eco-

Heikki Salmi, acting chief of the statistical office, said the 10 per contraction in the past two years was an even worse performance than during the Great Depression when the GDP decline over the three years 1930-32 was slightly less than five per cent.

"Estimated only in the cold light of statistical figures, the economy's recession seems to be even deeper and longer than the recession of the 1930s," he said in a prepared speech. Looking to 1993 Mr. Salmi said: "A negative GDP development for the third year in a row is probably not ruled out." In 1992 Finland suffered a six per cent drop in domestic de-off by four per cent. On the production side only exports and Finland's important forest sector showed any growth." the statistical office said in a statement.

Falls were heaviest in finance. construction, agriculture, sales, catering and hotel services. National income contracted by 4.5 per cent nominally, while total wages fell six per cent owing to high unemployment. Mr. Salmi said Finland, which last week began talks on joining the European Community with target entry date 1995, was now at an economic watershed.

'This year's economic development is clearly at a divide." he told a news conference. The official said there were some positive signals in the economy which could lead to improvements in employment, investment and consumption.

Among these positive factors, Mr. Salmi pointed to the fall in price and cost levels, improved corporate cost efficiency, significant gains in the competitiveness of domestic production and the economy's better external ba-

But among negative indicators, he saw high indebtedness of the public, corporate and private household sectors, weak domestic demand, the narrow structure mand as investment fell 15 per of the export industry and high cent and consumer spending was enemployment.

Sublime from Jean Patou

Intuitively capturing the essence and spirit of the times in his own inimitable fashion, Jean Patou introduces something more than a new perfume - it's a whole new way of saying "woman". In a world, SUBLIME.

A maestro of fragrance, Jean Patou presents an offering - a gift to discover and to love... SUBLIME. A women, a perfume, the spirit of today and the spirit of tomorrow.

ing Agency Sunday held a press conference during which Mr. Raed Abu Shakrah, the agency's managing director, introduced a new scent: Sublime from Jean

Jean Patou's regional export Area Manager Thierry Camus addressed the conference held at the Amman Marriott Hotel, outlining Jean Patou's development and its various products since 1919 until the present time. Sublime

The genesis of an extraordinary concept In the beginning was the idea. An idea for a fragrance immaterial and intangible. An abstracblossoming in the mind of Jean

Sublime.,. the fragrance

Expression had to be given to the soul of this woman: An accord faithful to the spirit of the fragrances created by Jean Patou. An exacting task for Jean Kerléo, perfume creator for the House of Jean Patou.

Jean Keriéo combined unique proportions of the most exquisite flowers, precious woods and nature's noblest raw materials. A secret composition given to Jean Patou, transforming his glass.

AMMAN - Abu Shakrah Trad- inspired idea into a semi-amber, floral fragrance.

Sublime... the secrets notes

In structuring the radiant heart of the fragrance — its accord, its personality - Jean Kerléo used flowers exclusively. Rose, jasmine, lily of the valley and orange blossom compose a rare symphony intensified with warm, deep and muted notes of vetiver, sandalwood and oak-

He made the heart seductive and captivating, with the addition of light, sparkling notes the fresh scents of orange, mandarin and ylang ylang from the Comoro Islands. He achieved a fragrance of magical substance. The perfect expression of woman called Sublime.

Sublime... the bottle

Clear, generously curved, rounded forms - like a perfect fruit, like a perfect flower closely fitting the hand of the woman who inspired it. A gold stopper, like a bud just beginning to open, a bud expressing the promise of eternal flowering and a multi-faceted paradise. Sublime de Jean Patou engraved in gold letters counterpoints the rich amber colour of the perfume and the transparence of the

Egypt offers stock market shares in state-owned firm

CAIRO (R) — Egypt is floating shares in a state-owned firm on the stock market as part of longawaited moves to whittle down public ownership and control of the economy, officials said Sun-

Taher Bishr Moustafa, chairman of the State Holding Company for Chemical Industries. said the Misr Chemicals Company would raise 50 million Egyptian pounds (£15 million) by offering five million new shares on the stock market later this week.

The offer, the first of its kind in Egypt, is part of long-awaited restructuring of Egypt's nearly 300 public sector firms leading to privatisation of many of them.

Egypt's state-owned Banque Misr will underwrite the issue and offer loans to potential shareholders, including the firm's 4,000 employees, Banque Misr Chairman Mohammad Ali Hafez said.

"We will continue an advertising campaign in the newspapers and expect the sale to start by the end of this week," Mr. Moustafa said, adding that the last obstacle was removed when Egypt's Capital Markets Authority approved the offer a week ago. He said the sale would last about two weeks.

Egypt, under pressure from Western donors to speed up public sector reforms, has said in the last two months it will sell off minority government stakes in joint ventures. It will also prepare about 25 firms for privatisation without actually selling them.

But donors, and the International Monetary Fund and World Bank who negotiated the reform package, are unhappy at what they see as fringe tinkering and unnecessary delays.

A senior official said the reshuffling of a system of holding companies Egypt set up to oversee the reforms went back to the drawing board last week after the World Bank expressed reservations over a first set of proposals. Misr Chemicals Company recorded sales of about 150 million pounds with profits of about 31 million pounds. The Alexandria factory mainly manufactures caustic soda and sodium carbonates for local markets from salts collected from nearby lakes. Germany has contributed near ly $100 million in grants and concessional finance to help the firm clean dangerous mercury deposits off factory equipment and switch to modern methods of producing chemicals, he said.

Mr. Hafez said the shares would be issued at a nominal price of four pounds with a six pound premium. Existing capital stood at 41 million pounds issued in 10.4 million shares but the current market value of existing shares was about 17 pounds, he

Mr. Moustafa said that to smooth the way to further reforms he had asked central government to hand over the shares of 27 affiliates to the chemical holding company which acts as their shareholder.

He said the company planned to sell off all four minority stakes it held in joint ventures in the Gold trade glitters in Dubai

DUBAI (R) - A bank wants two tonnes of gold. It arrives the same day in a truck without protection.

Traders say Duhai is one of the few places in the world where this can happen.

The bustling Gulf emirate is quickly becoming one of the top world centres for gold trading and it is now ranked fifth.

The lack of customs duties and a free trade policy make it an attractive market for bullion trading and the import, export and

"Dubai is very liberal there is no tax on gold bullion, cost of labour is very low, insurance cost is minimal and income tax is a joke compared to Europe," said Andre Bisang, regional director of the Geneva-based World Gold

"There is an important stock of gold.... if one bank needs one and a half tonnes of gold by tomorrow morning it will get it tomorrow morning, this is amazing," he said.
"Also, this place is so safe that tonnes of gold are transported in trucks without any protection," he added. Not just gold bullion makes Dubai attractive to traders. Its gold market is a clear sign of a thriving trade.

Dozens of shops, their windows glittering with bracelets, an ecklaces and rings, line the sides lot of the trade takes place, but it

offer gold telephones, toys and At any time of the day or evening the pedestrian street is packed with people. Tourists' murmurs of "look at that" and "this is amazing" mingle with Arabic and Indian music from the Shop doors in the gold souk stay open throughout the day with no security cameras or electronic locks.

Some of the jewellery is designed and manufactured locally and the rest is imported from India, Bahrain, Syria, Turkey and Italy, which traders say means all tastes are catered for.

The bulk of the gold bullion is imported from Switzerland and

Jewellery is sold by weight with a very small mark-up for design and manufacture. With a little bargaining, the price of a ring manufactured locally to a Cartier design went down in one shop from $125 to $75, which traders say is one third the price of such a ring in any of the souk. Some shops even about the gold smuggled from the Gulf into India and rest of the subcontinent. "I can say the Indians are the best customers. We don't rely on selling a ring or necklace. We count on people who buy big amounts to take home," said one trader who refused to be named.

According to official figures, one gramme of gold (0.035 ounces) sells for around 42 dirhams ($11).

"You want to call it smuggling, that's your business. For us it is business. We sell to whoever vants to buy," he added.

Mr. Bisang said Indian expatriates were still exporting gold from Dubai and other countries through unofficial channels although the government in March allowed them to bring in

"When it leaves here it does so in a legal way, but getting it to India is another story. Some people hide it, others smuggle it through ports and through con-tacts that they established over the years," another trader said. Abdullah Al Rifai, coordinator of the Dubai Municipality Central Laboratory, said the government monitored the quality of the gold which is always traded legal-

"The gold here is found in a free market. We don't keep tabs on who buys what or where they take it... what we have here is export and import," he said.

sion, protecting the reputation of the local market and protecting the consumer, and the most important part is curbing, any fraud," he pointed out. "We don't monitor pricing because we have a free market and we leave space for market.competition, and because of this competition the prices don't go up very high and we have some of the cheapest prices in the world," he added.

Mr. Bisang expects the local gold trade to hit a record high this year with an increase of 60 per cent in the volume of imports and

Traders said 210 tonnes of gold billion were shipped to Dubai between January and September 1992, more than double the amount in the same period the previous year.

There are 184 licensed workshops and 359 jewellery shops in Dubai and traders expect the number to increase.

The economic situation in the Gulf has recovered from the Gulf crisis, the expatriate community is back and with the low gold price the market is doing very well." he said.

"I think we will go into a time when more countries will open the door because they will realise that closing the door to gold is

Report: China's economy underestimated

BELJING (R) - The size of at various stages of development. India. tics, according to a report, raising questions about how the world should view the country of 1.1

billion people. The official data seriously underestimate China's GDP (gross; domestic product) by a factor of three," said the report, published by the East Asia Analytical Unit of Australia's Department of Foreign Affairs

The study examined the kinds of foods people in China and the economically more advanced Chinese communities of Hong Kong, Singapore and Taiwan ate

Cinema

China's economy is grossly underestimated by official statisbe understood in context of established international and Chinese perceptions of China's living standards," said the report, made available by the Australian Embassy in Beijing.

"The evidence was overwhelming that China's per capita GDP... was substantially higher than reported in the standard statistical sources," it pointed.

Officially the size of China's economy is some $370 per person, close to the bottom of the world list, far behind other Asian countries like the Philippines and

Tel.: 677420

While the study, by former The Economist magazine re-Australian ambassador to China Ross Garnaut and economist Ma Guonan, concentrated on China's grain production and consumption, analysts said it raised crucial estions about how the world should treat China.

"The implication of the report is that China is less deserving than other Third World countries for soft loans, concessional financing and the other kinds of 'easy way outs' that the Chinese government prefers to keep its economy booming," said a West-

em diplomat. "China's self image is very much as a developing country, part of the Third World, but if its economy is really as healthy as some think, it might not get much of the limited pool of aid funds

Abdoun, Orthodox Club St.

available," the diplomat added. cently argued that no matter what the official statistics say, China is already the world's third or fourth largest economy. If the Australian report is correct and the official figures are understated by a factor of three, then China has already reached senior leader Deng Xiaoping's goal of raising the per capita si of the economy to between $800 and $1,000 by the year 2000.

Most Chinese officials no longer quote the specific targets Deng set out when he began his economic reform programme in the early 1980s. Now the official line is that China wants everyone to have "Xiaokang." a vague term meaning something like "little prosper-

Cinema PHILADELPHIA

Robert De Niro & Nick Noite

CAPE FEAR Shows: 12:30, 6:15, 8:30, 10:30 p.m. Special show for children on Th. & Fri at 11:00 a.m.

Daily at 8:30 p.m.

Tickets office open all day

Tel.: 675571 Nabil Al Mashini Theatre

Nabil Al Mashini Theatre Tuesday January 5th marks the opening of the new theatre season presenting:

Pandemonium (Ta'a wa Qaimeh)

Nabil & Hisham's

Shows: 12:30, 3:30, 6:30, 8:30, 10:30 p.

a political comedy review

Box office open daily

Kevin Costner and Whitney Houston

BODYGUARD Shows: 12:30, 3:15, 6:00, 8:30, 10:30 Free Car Parking

PLAZA

Basic Instinct

Starring: Michael Douglas

and

Sharol Stone

CONCORD

Tel.: 625155 AHLAN THEATRE

"Welcome New World Order - 93"

Daily, except for Saturdays & Sundays at 8:39 p.m. Matinee on Thursdays at 4:39 p.m.

from 4 - 6 p.m. ፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠ on February 8th at the Marriott Hotel

APARTMENT FOR RENT 3 bedrooms, living room, guest room, dining room, 2 bathrooms, kitchen, veranda. 1st floor, one neighbour.

Please call 813108, Amman

፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠

THE AMERICAN WOMEN OF AMMAN will hold their February monthly general meeting

FOR RENT -EUROPEAN FURNISHED YILLA LOCATED IN A QUIET NEIGHBORHOOD IN JABAL ANNAAN ZAHRAN AREA 4th CIRCLE OPPOSITE JORDAN NEWS AGENCY (PETRA)

MITHKAL AL FAYIS STREET VILLA NO. 55 3 BEDROOMS, 2 BATHROOMS, 1 LIVING & DINING ROOM, FULLY EQUIPPED KITCHEN, LARGE ENTRANCE, WASHING ROOM, BEAUTIFUL GARDEN, COVER GARAGE, STORE ROOM, TELEPHONE AND CENTRAL HEATING

INTERESTED PARTY PLS CONTACT TEL 651972 FOR APPOINTMENT.

FURNISHED APARTMENT FOR RENT

One bedroom, sitting and dining room, kitchen and bathroom with central heating, washing machine, colour T.V., separate telephone and private entrance. Location: Shmeisani near Aramex.

For further information, please call tel. 680131

Date: 7/2/93

.....

.

COLUMN

U.K. reported

planning art sale

LONDON (R) — Britain's gov-

erument is considering selling off its multi-million pound art collection, the National Press Association reported. It quoted "well-placed sources" as saying the treasury was making inquiries about selling the collection, which now adoms the walls of embassies around the world, as well as the offices of government ministers. The collection includes works by Gainsborough, Sickert,

Hockney and other celebrated

British artists. Opposition

Labour Party member of parliament Bob Cryer said he would fight the move. "This is selling off the family silver with a vengeance," he said, adding that he would bring up the matter in parliament Monday.

vachtsman rounds

PARIS (R) — Leading solo

round-the-world yachtsman

Alain Gautier of France rounded

Cape Horn and set course for the finishing point at Les Sables

d'Olonne on the west coast of France. Organisers of the Vendee Globe Race said Gautier passed

Cape Horn in difficult conditions with heavy seas amd winds of 35

knots (65 kph), gusting up to 80 kph. Only eight of the 14 starters who left Les Sables d'Olonne on Nov. 22 are still left in the race.

The 30-year-old Gantier, who has a lead of around 350 nautical miles over Philippe Poupon of France, has another 7,000 miles to go before the expected finish towards the end of the month.

Leading solo

Cape Horn

I pese : C

$20°

Ca 'C

US.::

関係に

557.

1251 5

BSUSEC :

i: . . .

かだ おん

Pood Hood

Man; 26 m

:Clashes continue in Croatia; Bosnia relief flights suspended and rebel Serb forces exchanged rocket and shell fire along the Adriatic coastal hinterland Sun-I day and fighting flared in several r areas of Bosnia as international t peace efforts faitered.

i Sirens sounded the alert at t dawn in the ports of Zadar and Biograd, only a few kilometres § away from a new "blue line" war front established after Croatian i forces launched their Jan. 22 offensive to regain areas of the (Serb-held Krajina enclave. Relief flights from the Croatian capital of Zagreb to the Serbbesieged Bosnian capital of Sarajevo were suspended for at l least a day after a German plane was hit by anti-aircraft fire over northern Croatia Saturday and a · crewman injured.

Foreign airlines also halted their flights to Zagreb Sunday for security reasons.

U.N. Secretary-General Boutros Ghali condemned Saturday's lattack on the relief plane, saying it "further jeopardised the international community's efforts to bring an end to the conflict." Seventeen other UNHCR flights made the trip to and from Sarajevo without incident.

UNHCR officials in Sarajevo "" said it was up to their head office in Geneva to decide when the flights would resume and whether they should be re-routed or based somewhere other than Zagreb. "It's quite clear this route is risky," one official said. Rebel Serbs have rejected a call for talks to end the Krajina fighting and said they will not talk peace until Croatian troops meet U.N. demands to withdraw from areas they have seized since Jan.

Keating

.: Australian

March 13

election for

CANBERRA (R) — Australian

Prime Minister Paul Keating, ending months of speculation, Sunday called a general election for March 13 and both sides immediately picked the faltering economy as their main battleg-

Mr. Keating stunned reporters by announcing the date at a news conference expected to be de-voted to his Labour Party's defeat in Western Australia state polls

ly about the economy and unemployment," he told them.

"This election will be principal-

Some 11.3 per cent of the workforce is unemployed, one of the highest rates in the Western world. Australia's recession is the worst since the great depression

Opinion polls show the Labour government, in power for a decade, and the opposition conservative Liberal-National Coali-

Opposition leader John Hew-

son said he could win the election

because the Western Australian poll showed middle-class Australians deserting Labour. "The dominant issue was economic management and unemployment

Mr. Keating, who ousted

Labour Prime Minister Bob

Hawke in December 1991, said that on Tuesday he would deliver

"a major economic statement with new measures which will dramatically expand business opportunities and accelerate eco-

"This will be a statement about energising business and the eco, nomy and consolidating the

On Monday morning, he said, he would outline Australia's in Asia and the government's strategy for taking advantage of

"enormous" trade opportunities

Mr. Keating has sought to re-

Mr. Hewson's alternative economic strategy is centred on a ralue-added tax on consumption.

Although it would be offset by income tax cuts, this "goods and services tax" has become the main target of government

The election will also be a personal battle between Mr.

Keating, who left school at 14 and is famous for his savage political invective, and Mr. Hewson, an aloof, former academic-economist with little political ex-

Mr. Keating once earned a rebuke from the speaker for calling his opponent among other things

"a piece of criminal garbage" and

The prime minister said Sunday the Western Australian result had no impact on his decision to start his campaign now.

"a stupid foul-mouthed grub".

During a parliamentary debate

l focus Australia on its role in Asia and favours moves to lessen traditional ties with Britain.

counter-attacks.

perience.

nomic growth.

growth we have."

them.

" he told reporters.

calls

Saturday.

of the 1930s.

tion neck-and-neck.

Residents said the shelling around Zadar and Biograd died down during the day but few people were on the streets.

Croatian radio reported at least seven rocket attacks on Croatian villages inland from Zadar and said a Serb tank was destroyed by counter-fire. A heavy barrage was heard near Biograd as Croatian forces appeared to be firing at Serb-held areas with multiple rocket launchers.

The radio said Serb gunners shelled the Adriatic town of Sibenik Saturday for the first time in seven months, an ominous sign that fighting in Croatia could be spreading. No casualties were reported.

The radio also reported steady Serb mortar and small arms fire in Krupalj, Pridraga, Islam Latinski and Dracevac. In Bosnia, intensive fighting was reported along the eastern border with Serbia between progovernment Muslim forces and Rosnian Serb militias. Rival Serbs and Muslims in Bosnia have rebuffed a peace plan by U.N. and European Community mediators which would divide the republic into 10 provinces, largely on ethnic lines.

Radio stations said there had been infantry and tank clashes and heavy shelling in northern areas along a land corridor from Serbia which is the main supply route to Serb-held areas of Bosnia and Croatia.

In central Bosnia-Herzegovina, skirmishes were reported between once-allied Croatian and Muslim troops fighting for control of communally-mixed areas. Sarajevo, where 380,000 people have been trapped since the war began last April, was generally quiet except for some exchanges of cannon fire. In New York, international mediators portrayed this weekend as the last chance for Bosnia's Serbs and Muslims to sign up to peace package before the U.N. Security Council is asked to impose a solution.

But Bosnian President Alija Izetbegovic said in Sarajevo that the plan legitimised the brutal practice of "ethnic cleansing" violent and wholesale communal expulsion — by rebel serbs.

The plan in its present form, we shall not sign. It must be corrected," he told reporters. Mediators Cyrus Vance and

Lord Owen have struggled since September to end the conflict among Bosnia's Serbs, Croats and Muslims which has killed more than 16,000 people and forced two million from their

The Serbs in Croatia rose up after the republic declared independence from Yugoslavia in June 1991. Most fighting stopped in January last year under a U.N.-mediated truce. Bosnia's minority Serbs revolted after the republic declared independence last March

The Security Council, meeting in closed consultations Monday for the first time since Mr. Vance and Lord Owen transferred the peace talks from Geneva to New York, is nearly as divided as the Bosnians. No action is expected until after the United States reveals its full position.

"We're going to try and put together a package. Sometime the middle of next week, look for something," U.S. Defence Secretary Les Aspin said en route

British, French and German military leaders on President Bill Clinton's initial proposals for ending the war. Britain, France, Russia and China support the Vance-Owen peace plan but other Security Council states have reservations. including Islamic council members, Pakistan, Morocco and In the weekend talks at the United Nations involving Bosnia's Muslims, Serbs and Croats, meeting separately with Mr. Vance and Lord Owen, no progress was discernible. "The odds of (the talks) succeeding went down somewhat as a result of their discussions," said U.N. spokesman Fred Eckhard. At the heart of the peace plan is a contentious map dividing the country into 10 semi-autonomous provinces — three dominated by

Serbs, three by Muslims, two by Croats and two expected to have tri-partite local government. Bosnian Serb leader Radovan Karadzic brought a new map into the meeting which would cut the country further along ethnic lines and give Serbs more land adjoining Serbia proper.

But the mediators apparently dismissed his map on the spot with Mr. Eckhard calling it "strikingly different from the one that the co-chairmen have so painstakingly (been) negotiating. Mr. Karadzic also revived proposals to change boundaries of provinces through a vote, which Lord Owen characterised as that "wretched business of a referendum.

"It's quite impossible to have a poll about a border in a country that has three million people on the move," he said.

A Serbian officer peers through binoculars to the Creatian positions in front of 122 mm gues near Testingrad in the Serb-held enclave of Krajima.

southern Croatia since Croatia offensive against the self-declared Serbian republic on Jan. 22 (AFP photo)

NATO boss: West must be ready to use force in troubled areas

MUNICH (R) - North Atlantic Security Council session - to war was over, saying the force Treaty Organisation (NATO) Secretary General Manfred Woerner said Sunday the West must be ready to use force in troubled areas like Bosnia to stay credible, and warned allies not to cut defences too deeply.

Mr. Woerner was addressing a Munich meeting of senior West-ern defence officials dominated by a visit by new U.S. Secretary of Defence Les Aspin, who conferred with allied leaders on how to solve the conflict in former

The NATO chief said the United Nations was not able to handle everything by itself and that peacekeeping and aid must not be a substitute for curbing aggression itself.

He spoke as international mediators in New York pressured Bosnia's warring parties in vain at the weekend - on the eve of a

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rev. Jesse Jackson told 300 cheering

Haitians demonstrating outside the United Nations Saturday to negotiate an end to Europe's most disastrous conflict since World War II.

"We must prevent Europe from becoming a place where a few islands of stability are surcounded by a sea of instability, Mr. Woerner told the two-day privately-sponsored conference.

NATO, founded to deter the Soviet-led Warsaw Pact, now had as its task to "shape peace," he

"We must not shrink from the legitimate use of force if we are to

NATO, stepping out of its tra-ditional role as defender of West-ern Europe, has offered to enforce a no-fly zone in Bosnia announced by the U.N. Security Council last October.

Mr. Woerner said, however, he was concerned at the rate at which Western allies were cutting their defence forces now the cold

Jesse Jackson tells Haitians: Hold on reductions could have a serious impact on NATO defence cana-

"In many cases peacekeepers must be drawn from our main defence forces," he said.

German Chancellor Helmut Kohl, addressing the meeting Saturday, made an impassioned plea for the Americans to keep a substantial military presence in Europe in their own interest.

President Bill Clinton plans to cut the U.S. military presence in Europe, which was more than 300,000 when the Berlin Wall fell in 1989, to 100,000 soldiers. 50.000 fewer than envisioned by former President George Bush. But Mr. Kohl said Germany, battling to finance the buildup of impoverished East Germany, may cut its own armed forces to less than 370,000, the figure agreed upon in international talks at unification in 1990.

Postal officie: 'Elvis just won't go away' SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — This time it wasn't just a postage stamp, but the cancellation that got Elivs Presley fans all shook up. The main post office in Sacramento, trying to please faus hoping to get a "return to sen-der" marking next to the new 29-cent Elvis stamp, had rubber stamps made for a special day of cancellations. But while Elvis sang, "return to sender, address stamped, "returned to sender, address unknown." Customers crowding the post office didn't seem bothered by the difference. The cancellation was a lot closer than the machine-generated labels that usually appears on mail with incorrect addresses: "undeliverable as addressed." "We haven't used that (returned to sender) stamp in years," Postai Service spokesman Gus Ruiz. That didn't stop thousands of fans from mailing letters to bogus addresses in hopes of getting the famed lyric next to an Elvis stamp. Joyce McClain addressed envelopes to her own home with the address written incorrectly. But the post office fixed the address and delivered them anyway. On Friday, she got her "returned to sender" stamp.

rape compensation

to Munich where he went to meet Pope WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

ROME (R) - An outspoken call by a Roman Catholic archbishop for abortion to be outlawed in Italy has provoked a storm of criticism. "The state has only the duty to defend life in every case it does not have the right to allow life to be suppressed," Cardinal Giacomo Biffi, the Archbishop of Bologna, said in a service. "The respect for life has be total and coherent. How can we condemn organised crime and approve the killing in the maternal womb of an unborn baby?" Italian daily Corrière Della Sera quoted Cardinal Biffi as saying. The Corrière Della Sera criticised the cardinal's emotive language in a front-page editorial while politicians accused him of meddlin "Abortion will not be prevented by criminalising women or by limiting their liberty," said Livia Turco, national women's organiser for the ex-Communist Democratic Party of the Left (PDS). "It is not the job of the religious authorities to inspect the laws of a sovereign state like Italy," the PDS deputy added. Abortion was legalised in Catholic Italy in 1978, a decision reinforced by a referendum in 1981.

Abortion issues cause storm in Italy

Quake hits northwestern Japan

TOKYO (R) — An earthquake measuring 6.6 on the Richter Scale rocked northwestern Japan Sunday, but no damage or casualties were immediately reported. The quake, with its epicentre 30 kilometres under water in the Japan Sea near Wajima, happened at 10:22 p.m. (1322 GMT), the Meteorological Agency said. The agency issued a warning that there could be a tsunami, or tidal wave, as a result. The tremor lasted for about a minute, shaking buildings and disrupting rail traffic in coastal

6 killed in S. Africa shooting

JOHANNESBURG (R) — Gunmen attacked a squatter camp near Johannesburg Sunday, killing six people and wounding 11, police said. The African National Congress (ANC) said eight people were killed and 15 wounded when gunmen with Kalash-nikov rifles attacked the Chris Hani Camp in the black township of Daveyton east of Johannesburg.

Poll shows Danish 'yes' to Maastricht

COPENHAGEN (R) - A clear majority of Danes are likely to vote 'yes' to the European Community Maastricht Treaty in their second referendum on the pact on May 18, according to an opinion poll. The poll by the Observa Institute, published in the national daily BT, showed 60 per cent would vote 'yes' while 27 per cent would vote 'no' and 13 per cent were undecided. Danes voted 'no' by a 50.7-49.3 per cent margin to the treaty on closer European political, economic and monetary union in the first referendum on June 2 last year. The result, blocking Europe-wide implementation of the pact, has caused one of the worst crises in Community history. The new vote will be on a revised deal agreed with the EC at a summit in Edinburgh in December, allowing Danes to opt out of the treaty's long-term plans for a common currency and joint defence.

Space mirror burns up in atmosphere

MOSCOW (R) - A Russian space ship that reflected a beam of sunlight over Europe at night last week, using a unique plastic mirror, burnt up in the Earth's atmosphere on Sunday, ITAR-TASS News Agency said. The thin shaft of light, part of an experiment testing the feasibility of projects to extend daylight hours during the polar winters of northern territories, was seen in the skies over France Thursday. But it went unnoticed as it played across clouds covering southern Germany, Poland and Belarus. TASS said the unmanned Progress cargo ship, which unfurled a 20-metre (65-foot) wide plastic mirror to project the light, burnt up according to schedule as it hit the atmosphere.

Belgium drifts further apart

BRUSSELS (R) - Belgium's parliament has approved by just two votes a sweeping state reform which will lead the country into a new federal era, further separating Dutch-speaking Flanders and French-speaking Wallonia. The coalition government of Prime Minister Jean-Luc Dehaene mustered 144 votes — only two more than the two-thirds majority of 142 required — to amend the first article of the Belgian constitution, Belga News Agency said. Thirty-six deputies voted against. The new deal grants more autonomy to Flanders in the north and Wallonia in the south. Mr. Dehaene says the new regional powers should provide more stable government and bring an end to squabbling between the two language groups. The central parliament will be significantly reduced in size, central parliament will be significant. ly reduced in size, passing more responsibilities such as foreign trade and agriculture to the regions.

prays for Ugandan martyrs

NAMUGONGO, Uganda (R) -Pope John Paul prayed Sunday before symbols of 19th century teenage martyrs who were roasted slowly over a pit for refusing to submit to a Ugandan king's homosexual demands.

Hundreds of thousands of people turned out to see the Pope celebrate mass on a tiny island in an artificial pond at the Sanctuary of the Martyrs just outside Kampala.

The mass procession on the fifth day of the Pope's African tour was led by Karamojong trib-al dancers from northeast Uganda who wore goat skins and ostrich feathers.

The shrine was built on the grounds where, in the 1880s, the King Mwanga of Buganda ordered the execution of 45 boys who had converted to Catholicism or Anglicanism. The Pope prayed before an Anglican Church reconstruction of a clay pit under a thatched brick but where 22 of the buys were roasted alive. The bodies of the martyrs were represented by statues bound in bamboo sticks.

hold on until democracy is restored and exiled President Jean-Bertrand Aristide returns to pow-Rev. Jackson spoke with his customary fire before an enthusiastic crowd that needed warming up after marching through a snowstorm and icy temperatures from City Hall, miles away in downtown Manhattan. "We will keep the pressure on until democracy is wed and Aristide is n 'ack-son said. The Haitians, ... lags and holding up pictures of Mr. Aristide, cried, "no Aristide, no peace" and ""

Mr. Aristide became the first democratically elected president of Haiti just seven months before he was ousted in a September 1991 coup. Lt. Gen. Raoul Cedras, Haiti's ranking military strongman, now rules the nation together with Prime Minister Marc Bazin.

In a meeting with Mr. Aristide Friday, Secretary of State Warren Christopher denounced the current leaders of Haiti as holders of 'illegal power" and promised,

"they will not prevail."

President Bill Clinton acknowledged Friday that concerns about potential human rights abuses in the event of Mr. Aristide's return were legitimate. In remarks to reporters, Mr. Clinton said democracy must be restored in a way that would preserve human rights during the transition.

Rev. Jackson also er the importance of a peaceful transition, calling for an end to "necklacing," a method of execu-tion that has been used in Haiti in which a tire is put around the victim's body and set affame.

Mr. Bazin has rejected a U.N. plan to send about 500 civilian observers to Haiti as the first steo in the return of democracy. However, Friday he said his military-installed government supported the presence of observers and democratic reforms. Mr. Aristide had been scheduled to join Rev. Jackson in a rally in Miami Sunday. But Lela McDowell, his spokeswoman, said Saturday Mr. Aristide would not appear.

and communicating with the Haitian people through a variety of means," but will not make a public appearance, Ms. McDowell said in a telephone interview from Washington. Rev. Jackson also planned to visit Haitian refugees held by immigration authorities at Guantanamo Bay U.S. Military Base in Cuba. Meanwhile, foreign diplomats see no more than a slender hope of reviving a U.N.-I effort to resolve Haiti's 16month-old political crisis.

The army-backed de facto government of Mr. Bazin showed "extreme bad faith" in negotiations with United Nations special envoy Dante Caputo during a four-day visit that ended Thursday, the diplomats said. One diplomat took heart from a government statement Saturday claiming that "there was a certain narrowing of differences on several points" at the three meetings between Mr. Bazin and Mr.

They appear to be leaving the door ajar, but it remains to be seen if Caputo will believe their sincerity," the diplomat said.

the Georgian agency reported. It said officials blamed bad weather

"It's such a hype. It's fun," she British girl refuses 'holiday'

NEWPORT, Wales (R) --- A storm of protest has erupted around a British judge who allowed a 15-year-old schoolboy who raped a classmate to walk free from court. Newspapers and television said the victim, also 15, refused to accept £500 ($720) awarded by Judge John Prosser in compensation. A police chief called for a review of the decision and women's groups joined the protests. Judge Prosser put the boy under a three-year supervi-sion order but ordered him to pay the money to "give this girl the chance of a good holiday to help her get over her trauma." He said jailing the youth, whom he de-scribed as "one of the most popular boys in school," could introduce him to more "bad habits." The chief constable of the Welsh County of Gwent, where the rape occurred, said he would formally

Armenians win ground in new Karabakh offensive

MOSCOW (Agencies) - Armenian forces have launched a major new offensive in the disputed territory of Nagorno-Karabakh and captured at least two Azerbaijani-beld villages, reports from both sides said.

The Armenian News Agency, Snark, said Armenian fighters had won control of 11 settlements in the past two days including Chidran, one of the largest in the north of the war-torn enclave. It said Azerbaijani forces were "retreating in panic. Azerbaijan's Turan News Agency said fierce fighting for strategic heights in the region raged overnight and Saturday morning. It acknowledged the loss of Chidran and a second village. Syrkhavend.

More than 2,500 people have been killed in a five-year undeclared war between the two former Soviet republics.

It focuses on Nagorno-Karabakh, a mountainous area which is mostly populated by Armenians but was placed under Azerbaijan's jurisdiction by Soviet authorities in 1923.

Armenia, in particular, is suffering an acute energy crisis because of a blockade imposed by its neighbour. Military success in Nagorno-Karabakh could help to ease pressure on Armenian President Levon Ter-Petrosyan, who faces growing demands to quit. At least 100,000 Armenians weary of unheated homes and resignation Friday. Snark and Turan said border villages in both Armenia and Azerbaijan had been shelled in the past 24 hours.

Azeri soldiers prepare an attack on Armenian position near Novolva-novka village in Nagorno Karabakh. Despite winter conditions of cold and snow the war between Azerbaijanis and Armenians for the disputed Nagorno Karabakh region has not let up (AFP photo).

lull of about 10 days in the conflict, which has rumbled on fran and others

The Georgian military confirmed the report, but said the

and strong winds for the crash, in which three crew members and five passengers died and several people suffered injuries. Amid the violence, five Russian helicopters Saturday brought 22 tonnes of food and medicines to Tkvartcheli, which has been blockaded for several months by the Georgian troops, and re-turned with 277 elderly people, women and children aboard, Interfax and the ITAR-TASS News Hundreds of people have been evacuated from Tkvartcheli in the framework of a U.N.-sponsored humanitarian action, and 553 refugees have temporarily settled in the Russian Black Sea resort of Sochi, ITAR-TASS said. Russia protested to Georgia Saturday at the latest in a series of attacks on its military bases in the Transcaucasian state, Interfax News Agency said.

The Russian army command in Georgia demanded "resolute measures" to investigate an attack on a depot in the capital Tbilisi in challenge the decision with legal officials Monday. "I am also deeply concerned about the fact since 1988 despite frequent The conflict has drained the plane was safeguarding the which 40 armed men beat up economies of both countries and attempts at mediation by Russia, Tkvartcheli airlift. Interfax rethree Russian guards and made off with television sets, radios, ported. that the victim of crime is coming Meanwhile in Georgia, Rus-The Abkhazians also shelled cameras and vehicles. very much last. A very great dealis spent on the rehabilitation of sian helicopters Saturday brought residential neighbourhoods of relief supplies and evacuated re-Sukhumi, wounding two people It said that unless the incident offenders and very little on the fugees from the blockaded town and damaging several houses, was properly investigated, it would conclude the Georgian victims," John Over told BBC of Tkvartcheli in the secessionist prompting Georgian artillery to return fire, according to the Georgian News Agency. leadership had authorised acts of Georgian province of Abkhazia, Radio. "Decent people are get-ting heartily sick of the fact that news reports said. violence against Russian forces stationed in Georgia. The Georgian military command said Abkhazian militants Also Saturday, clashes bevictims are coming last in the queue." Ruth Hall, spokestween the Georgian army and Georgia ordered an immediate woman for Women Against Abkhazian separatists continued. planted a bomb Friday in a water investigation into Friday's attack, Rape, said: "We've often seen judges treat crimes of rape less power cuts, demonstrated for his The Interfax News Agency saying all necessary steps should be taken to punish the culprits, ITAR-TASS News Agency said. reservoir near the town of quoted Abkhazian reports as Ochamchira, leaving the seriously than crimes against saying a Georgian SU-25 fighter Georgian-controlled town withproperty. Something has to be done on a broader scale about jet was shot down Saturday over out drinking water. It was the latest in a spate of Also Friday, a Georgian MI-8 the river Gumista, which sepasimilar incidents which have sevjudges and the courts and the way. rates the warring sides near the military helicopter crash-landed erely damaged ties between the The latest hostilities followed a Abkhazian capital of Sukhumi. they treat women." in the Georgian town of Kutaisi. two former Soviet republics.

